Discoverer Fails To Gain Polar Orbit

Plans For Capsule Recovery Attempt Again Go By Board

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—The U.S. late Thursday night launched the Discoverer IV satellite, but the Air Force announced it failed to achieve its intended polar orbit.

The official announcement came more than two hours after the launching of the seven-story Discoverer IV rocket from its launch pad overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

The Air Force, in announcing the failure, said:

"Preliminary reduction of data obtained during the launching of Discoverer IV indicates the satellite failed to achieve an orbit. The satellite was not acquired by tracking stations in Alaska on its first circuit around the earth. This tends to confirm the results of the preliminary data reduction."

Presumably Burned Up

"Additional evaluation of telemetry (radio information) is required before the reason for the failure of the satellite to orbit is acquired."

The shot was principally designed to test U. S. techniques for the first recovery of a satellite capsule from outer space.

It was the second Discoverer out of four launched which failed to go into orbit. The other was Discoverer III, carrying four small black mice.

Discoverer IV presumably burned up upon re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

There was no official reason given for the failure. The launching appeared entirely successful, with the Thor booster operating as was intended.

No word is expected before Friday on why Discoverer IV did not orbit.

"Hardware Test"

Discoverer IV was blasted aloft at 6:47 p.m. e.d.t., and did not carry any form of life. It was termed "strictly a hardware test" by the Air Force.

"The main thing we want to do now is recover one of these things." a spokesman said.

Two previous Discoverer attempts to bring a "life capsule" back from an artifical moon failed. The most recent, on June 3, plunged four black mice to a fiery death.

Discoverer IV carried no medical specimens, but was toting a 300-pound capsule. The weight of the re-entry capsule included recovery aids and a retro-rocket.

Wheat, Tobacco Bills Vetoed

WASHINGTON (PUI) — President Eisenhower vetoed the Democratic-sponsored wheat and tobacco bills Thursday. He said they were "backward instead of forward" steps and would not ease the farm problem.

The President's action was no surprise. Opponents repeatedly warned Congress that Eisenhower might veto the measures.

The wheat bill passed both the House and Senate by slim margins and there appeared little chance this veto would be upset. Observers said chances of getting two-thirds votes in each house to override the tobacco veto were less clear.

The wheat bill was the Democratic solution to the mounting wheat surplus, now valued at three billion dollars. It would have cut wheat plantings by 25 per cent but raised price supports to 90 per cent of parity in 1960-61.

The President opposed any hike in price supports.

The tobacco bill was designed to keep the American-grown product from pricing itself out of the world market. It would have held tobacco price supports at 1958 levels for the next four or five years.

Government Will Borrow Five Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Thursday it will borrow five billion dollars in new cash early next month through auctions of two short-term securities.

The department said the big borrowing operation will raise enough money to take care of the major part of its cash needs through September. It said some additional cash borrowing will be necessary in early August, however.

The short-term securities to be auctioned next month will be: Three billion dollars of 258-day tax anticipation bills to be auctioned on July 1 and dated July 8 to mature March 22, 1960.

Two billion dollars of one-year bills to be auctioned on July 8, dated July 15 to mature July 15, 1960.

By auctioning the securities, the Treasury will permit the money market to determine the interest rates on the new issues. Investors will bid for the bills at less than face value, with the discount representing the effective yields.

The Treasury noted that it will conduct the auctions only on condition the debt limit is raised by June 30.

House Group Balks At War Center Fund

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee on Thursday refused President Eisenhower funds to build the first of eight underground centers from which to run the government in event of an enemy atomic attack.

In a surprise move, it rejected a subcommittee recommendation that it provide 4 million dollars to build two centers, one near Denton, Tex., and the other presumably at Harvard University near Boston, Mass.

The committee took the action in approving a $632,568,845 supplemental money bill, mostly for space activities, in the fiscal year starting July 1. The total was $256,362,572 — or 28.8 per cent—less than the President had requested.

Doctors Deny 'Satchmo' Has Been In Coma

SPOLETO, Italy (UPI) — Trumpeter Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong rallied slightly Thursday night in his fight against bronchial pneumonia and heart disturbances.

SPOLETO, Italy (AP) — Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, the trumpet man who soared to the top of the jazz world, lay dangerously ill Thursday night in a Spoleto hospital.

There were contradictory announcements on his illness.

An afternoon bulletin from the hospital said he had been unconscious, but at night his doctors issued a statement saying he has not been in a coma at any time. One also said Armstrong never had any kind of heart attack.

Armstrong, 58, was stricken Tuesday with pneumonia. His physicians said the illness had become grave because his 45 years of trumpet playing had greatly stretched his lungs.

Earlier announcements by doctors had mentioned heart disturbances as complicating Armstrong's case and one bulletin described his illness as bronchial pneumonia in a patient subject to heart weakness.

The later bulletin did not mention heart weakness.

It was written in English by Armstrong's private physician, Dr. Alexander Schiff of New York, and signed by Dr. Cataldo Cassano, director of the Medical Pathological Institute of Rome University. Cassano was summoned here to examine the musician. He said Armstrong had a high temperature and a fast pulse rate.

It was Schiff who said Armstrong never had any kind of heart attack.

"He just blew himself out," the physician added. "Any musician who blows on a wind instrument for years suffers some weakness of the heart."

Earlier announcements said three heart specialists had been summoned from Rome and oxygen was given to ease Armstrong's breathing.

Major A-Attack On U.S. Would Kill 48,900,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suppose an aggressor hit the United States some morning with 263 nuclear weapons—H-bombs and the like.

There would be 48,900,000 killed, some of them outright and some of them after hours or days of suffering from burns, wounds and injuries.

There would be another 20 million injured, but not so badly as to die.

These were estimates Thursday by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, which made its estimate for a Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee considering the effect of possible nuclear war.

The figures compare with the present U.S. population of around 177 million.

It was assumed that warheads having the power of almost 1½ billion tons of TNT were included in the 263 weapons estimated to have fallen on 70 cities and 154 military and atomic installations across the country.

Casualty estimates assumed the bombardment began at 7 a.m. New York time last Oct. 17. It was further assumed the people had no shelters other than homes or buildings, and that some would have been outdoors.

On this basis the civil defense people estimated that 28 per cent of the whole population died.

The committee received testimony that carefully designed and ventilated underground shelters could hold casualties to eight per cent of the population.

This testimony came from Walner E. Strope of the U.S. Naval Radiological Laboratory at San Francisco, who said sturdier shelters could cut the loss to three per cent.

Senate Votes End To Phone, Travel Taxes

Excise Struggle Continues; House May Balk At Slash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate agreed Thursday to do away with the federal taxes on travel, telegrams and telephone calls, but the House may balk.

Some senators also sought to attach to a bill under debate provisions for closing what they term tax law loopholes. Others were looking for a way to use the bill to get the national highway program out of a financial fix.

The struggle with the particular bill before the Senate is an annual event. The main purpose of the measure is to continue various excise and corporation income taxes at present levels for another year.

Deadline July 1

Unless Congress does that before July 1, the rates would fall back to pre-Korean War levels and the government would be out of pocket some three billion dollars a year.

Even with the deadline coming on, and with Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas threatening to force round-the-clock sessions in order to get action, the Senate showed little inclination to hurry.

Finally, Johnson got together with a band of Democrats who were pushing amendments aimed at closing what they consider loopholes through which $2,350,000,000 a year slips away from the Treasury.

The result was an agreement to restrict debate on the bill and all amendments.

Other Amendments Pending

The Senate accepted it unanimously. Johnson said, "We will attempt to complete action on the bill tonight."

At least eight amendments were awaiting action at that point.

The travel and communications amendments, recommended by the Finance Committee, were put into the bill by voice vote.

One would end on Aug. 1 the 10 per cent tax passengers pay on train, plane and bus tickets. This would cost 235 million dollars annually in revenue.

The other would wipe out on July 1, 1960, the 10 per cent communications levy at a cost of 735 millions a year.

Trujillo Still In Firm Control

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared Thursday his forces "have the invaders from Cuba about cleaned up." He laughed at reports from Havana that his government is about to fall.

The 68 - year - old Dominican strongman talked with newsmen at a reception for visiting U.S. Coast Guard cadets and officers.

He displayed a small American flag which he said his officers had recovered from a sunken invasion launch in Maimon Bay. The government claimed earlier this week it had wiped out a Cuban-supported invasion force on the Dominican Republic's north coast.

Sources outside the government tended to confirm claims that residents of the coastal area, instead of rising up to aid the invaders, had joined with Trujillo's troops in tracking down and killing most of those who had landed from two speedboats five days ago.

Harriman Chides Russian Newsmen

MOSCOW (UPI)—Former New York Gov. Averell Harriman on Thursday chided Russian newsmen for "expressing doubt about the sincerity" of the American cultural exhibition before it opened in Moscow.

Harriman spoke with newsmen on the eve of his return to the United States from a six - week tour of the Soviet Union. He referred to reports published here that a $14,000 "typical American home" to be displayed in the U. S. exhibition was not available to the average American.

"Nothing would be more stupid —and we Americans are not always stupid — than to show a house which is not the house of an ordinary worker," Harriman said.

Union Official Paid $100,000 By Newspaper

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An official of the Pittsburgh Sun - Telegraph testified Thursday that his newspaper paid out more than $100,000 to a Teamster union official over a nine-year period to keep labor peace.

William J. Poch, Sun-Telegraph business manager, told the Senate Rackets Committee that Theodore Cozza, president of Teamster Local 211, was on the paper's payroll as a substitute driver and provided with his own office.

Poch said Cozza was on the payroll when he became business manager in 1951, shortly after a seven-week strike. He said he did not know if Cozza's employment was part of the settlement.

The witness said the Teamster did little work for the paper and eventually was ousted after an efficiency expert conducted a study.

Poch agreed with Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) that Cozza's presence on the paper's payroll amounted to a method of obtaining labor peace.

Cozza's local is made up of drivers of newspaper trucks in Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington, D. C.

Cozza's tenure at the Pittsburgh paper included organizing work at the Washington, D. C., Star and other union chores in Baltimore, Los Angeles, Miami and Chicago.

Called to the stand, Cozza refused to answe questions on grounds his answers might tend to incriminate him. He also claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment when McClellan commented that a truthful answer would stamp him as a "parasite on the economy of the country."

Committee investigator Pierre Salinger testified there had been complaints that Cozza, who has an extensive police record, was using his office at the Sun-Telegraph to operate a numbers racket.

Bullet Holes Stir New "Superman" Probe

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Two unexplained bullet holes were found Thursday in the room where television's Superman, actor George Reeves, shot himself to death last week. Police Chief William H. Parker ordered an investigation.

Despite the new holes, Parker said the death of the 45-year-old idol of television's small fry still is definitely a suicide. Coroner Theodore Curphey said the same, adding that no inquest is planned.

Reeves' German Luger held eight shells fully loaded. When found it had four live shells in the magazine, one in the chamber. There was an empty cartridge that had held the slug that killed him.

Parker says the two unexplained holes would account for the entire load.

Gov. Long Files Separation Suit

Action 'First Step Toward Divorce'

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long, battling for freedom from a state mental hospital, filed a court suit Thursday asking separation from his wife.

The suit, filed by Attorney J. B. Nesom, charged cruelty, desertion, abandonment and slander.

Mrs. Long twice signed papers committing the governor to psychiatric wards at Galveston, Tex., and Mandeville, La.

Mrs. Long, who filed the application asking the governor's confinement to the Southeast Louisiana (mental) Hospital last week, slipped out of the state Tuesday for parts unknown.

The 63-year-old governor goes into court at Covington, La., Friday asking release from the hospital on grounds he was illegally committed.

Long and his wife recently celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary.

Nesom said the suit, filed before Family Court Judge Joe Sanders was "the first step toward a divorce."

The suit asking the separation has the effect of temporarily suspending Mrs. Long's status as the governor's wife. It also suspended her right to ask further commitment to any hospital should the governor be released from the hospital Friday.

Mrs. Long was part of the family faction that asked commitment of the governor to the mental hospital in Galveston May 30. Long contended he was forcibly removed from his mansion at Baton Rouge for the plane trip to Galveston. She also petitioned a court last week to confine the governor to Mandeville.

Long contended earlier his wife was "the most jealous woman in Louisiana."

Earlier in the day, Long summoned the State Hospital Board to a special and secret meeting Friday morning before the court hearing opens.

Board members, however, said they have not been informed of any such meeting.

Canton, China, Spared Flood

TOKYO (AP)—Dikes protecting teeming Canton have held firm, Radio Peiping said Friday, sparing the city from the ravages of one of south China's worst floods.

The city of 1½ million was threatened by the towering crests of two rivers that converge at Samshui, about 30 miles west of Canton.

The broadcast said the floodwaters of the rivers had thundered together Thursday and the combined water flow rushed down the fertile Pearl River delta and into the sea early Thursday.

Water levels on the rivers then began to slowly recede, the radio added.

Hundreds of thousands of peasants were drafted to battle the floods caused by torrential rains.

Dikes were raised from 1½ feet to 3 feet and reinforced, Peiping said.

There was no further casualty reports beyond one which said that 187 persons died, two million were affected and 17 per cent of early rice crops were damaged in the province.

Ike's Book Polish Hit

WARSAW (AP) — The scarcest and most sought after book in Poland this week is a translation of President Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." The Ministry of National Defense had 5,000 copies printed and they were snapped up. There are no plans for a new printing, it said.

Crew Abandons Freighter After Great Lakes Crash

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — Two foreign freighters collided in foggy Lake Huron off Thunder Bay Island Thursday. Two hours later Coast Guard officials said one of the freighters appeared doomed.

The former Liberty ship Monrovia was reported taking water in two holds and her engine room. Her captain and 29-man crew, who abandoned the vessel when it collided with the Canadian freighter Royalton, were picked up by a third ship.

The Royalton stood by to aide in rescue and possible salvage work.

The Monrovia's captain returned to his ship an hour after the crash to determine if she could be saved. Coast Guard officials said his inspection showed she was taking water at four different locations and that there was no chance of keeping her afloat.

The Monrovia carrying a cargo of steel, is out of Monrovia, Liberia. The Royalton is owned by the F. Scott Misener, Ltd. of Port Colbourne, Ont.

The Coast Guard said the Monrovia had been abandoned by her captain and crew within a few minutes after the crash. They were taken off by the Norman W. Foy, a freighter owned by the Browning Steamship Lines of Detroit.

The last major ship disaster on the Great Lakes occurred last Nov. 18 when the freighter Carl D. Bradley broke up and sank in Lake Michigan. Thirty-three crewmen lost their lives. Two men survived. The scene of the Bradley sinking was almost due west, across the tip of Lower Michigan, from Thursday's collision.

Each Spurns Other's Pact Extension Bid

Industry Proposes Deadlocked Talks Be Resumed Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry Thursday night rejected a union offer to extend present steel contracts from July 1 to July 15 with a guarantee of retroactive benefit gains.

The decision seemed to rule out a delay of a Wednesday strike threat.

The steel makers at the same time proposed that the stalled contract negotiations resume at 10 a.m. Friday.

The companies and union traded proposals to extend present contracts beyond their scheduled June 30 expiration. But each side rejected the other's extension plan, leaving in effect a strike threat Wednesday.

Union Response Awaited

It appeared that negotiations would continue in efforts to reach agreement before the Wednesday walkout deadline. But there was no immediate union response to the industry bid to resume talks Friday, although the union has been saying it is willing to talk with the industry at any time.

The industry had said it will have to start closing down Friday in anticipation of a Wednesday strike.

The Steelworkers' offer came earlier in the day from David J. McDonald, union president. He coupled the offer with a demand that any new steel contract gains eventually negotiated would date back to July 1.

Counter-Proposal

The offer countered a proposal made Wednesday by the steel industry that present contracts be extended indefinitely without any retroactive feature. McDonald made it clear the union would not consider an extension without retroactivity. He said the industry had often agreed to retroactivity in the past.

McDonald submitted the union's alternate extension plan to the industry after day-long meetings with the Steelworkers' Executive Board and International Wage Policy Committee.

The wage policy group, in an angry statement, said the union had made fair, reasonable and noninflationary settlement offers but the industry enjoying its greatest profit rate in history, had balked completely at granting any concessions.

Debt Limit Hike Bill Sent To Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, working against a Tuesday deadline, gave final congressional approval Thursday to a one-year emergency boost in the national debt ceiling to a peacetime record of 295 billion dollars.

The Senate passed the increase and sent it to the White House only a few hours after its Finance Committee approved the House-passed legislation 11-0. The bill passed the full Senate on a non-record voice vote.

In addition to permitting a record peacetime temporary debt, the bill would allow the permanent debt ceiling to rise to 285 billion dollars.

President Eisenhower requested the new temporary limit of 295 billion to tide over the Treasury during the lean tax collection period ahead. Treasury borrowing during July - December is expected to send the debt up to about 292 billion.

The present 288 billion temporary ceiling expires at midnight June 30.

Hotel Ruins Yield Five More Bodies

VOSSESTRAND, Norway (UPI) — Five more bodies were recovered by search crews Thursday from the ruins of the Stalheim Hotel which was swept by fire while crowded with American tourists Tuesday.

It raised to 15 the number of bodies found in the wreckage. Nine persons still were missing.

The U. S. State Department said 17 Americans are presumed dead.

The travel and communications amendments, recommended by the Finance Committee, were put into the bill by voice vote.

One would end on Aug. 1 the 10 per cent tax passengers pay on train, plane and bus tickets. This would cost 235 million dollars annually in revenue.

The other would wipe out on July 1, 1960, the 10 per cent communications levy at a cost of 735 millions a year.

Trujillo Still In Firm Control

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared Thursday his forces "have the invaders from Cuba about cleaned up." He laughed at reports from Havana that his government is about to fall.

The 68 - year - old Dominican strongman talked with newsmen at a reception for visiting U.S. Coast Guard cadets and officers.

He displayed a small American flag which he said his officers had recovered from a sunken invasion launch in Maimon Bay. The government claimed earlier this week it had wiped out a Cuban-supported invasion force on the Dominican Republic's north coast.

Sources outside the government tended to confirm claims that residents of the coastal area, instead of rising up to aid the invaders, had joined with Trujillo's troops in tracking down and killing most of those who had landed from two speedboats five days ago.

Harriman Chides Russian Newsmen

MOSCOW (UPI)—Former New York Gov. Averell Harriman on Thursday chided Russian newsmen for "expressing doubt about the sincerity" of the American cultural exhibition before it opened in Moscow.

Harriman spoke with newsmen on the eve of his return to the United States from a six - week tour of the Soviet Union. He referred to reports published here that a $14,000 "typical American home" to be displayed in the U. S. exhibition was not available to the average American.

"Nothing would be more stupid —and we Americans are not always stupid — than to show a house which is not the house of an ordinary worker," Harriman said.

Union Official Paid $100,000 By Newspaper

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An official of the Pittsburgh Sun - Telegraph testified Thursday that his newspaper paid out more than $100,000 to a Teamster union official over a nine-year period to keep labor peace.

William J. Poch, Sun-Telegraph business manager, told the Senate Rackets Committee that Theodore Cozza, president of Teamster Local 211, was on the paper's payroll as a substitute driver and provided with his own office.

Poch said Cozza was on the payroll when he became business manager in 1951, shortly after a seven-week strike. He said he did not know if Cozza's employment was part of the settlement.

The witness said the Teamster did little work for the paper and eventually was ousted after an efficiency expert conducted a study.

Poch agreed with Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) that Cozza's presence on the paper's payroll amounted to a method of obtaining labor peace.

Cozza's local is made up of drivers of newspaper trucks in Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington, D. C.

Cozza's tenure at the Pittsburgh paper included organizing work at the Washington, D. C., Star and other union chores in Baltimore, Los Angeles, Miami and Chicago.

Called to the stand, Cozza refused to answe questions on grounds his answers might tend to incriminate him. He also claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment when McClellan commented that a truthful answer would stamp him as a "parasite on the economy of the country."

Committee investigator Pierre Salinger testified there had been complaints that Cozza, who has an extensive police record, was using his office at the Sun-Telegraph to operate a numbers racket.

Bullet Holes Stir New "Superman" Probe

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Two unexplained bullet holes were found Thursday in the room where television's Superman, actor George Reeves, shot himself to death last week. Police Chief William H. Parker ordered an investigation.

Despite the new holes, Parker said the death of the 45-year-old idol of television's small fry still is definitely a suicide. Coroner Theodore Curphey said the same, adding that no inquest is planned.

Reeves' German Luger held eight shells fully loaded. When found it had four live shells in the magazine, one in the chamber. There was an empty cartridge that had held the slug that killed him.

Parker says the two unexplained holes would account for the entire load.

Action 'First Step Toward Divorce'

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long, battling for freedom from a state mental hospital, filed a court suit Thursday asking separation from his wife.

The suit, filed by Attorney J. B. Nesom, charged cruelty, desertion, abandonment and slander.

Mrs. Long twice signed papers committing the governor to psychiatric wards at Galveston, Tex., and Mandeville, La.

Mrs. Long, who filed the application asking the governor's confinement to the Southeast Louisiana (mental) Hospital last week, slipped out of the state Tuesday for parts unknown.

The 63-year-old governor goes into court at Covington, La., Friday asking release from the hospital on grounds he was illegally committed.

Long and his wife recently celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary.

Nesom said the suit, filed before Family Court Judge Joe Sanders was "the first step toward a divorce."

The suit asking the separation has the effect of temporarily suspending Mrs. Long's status as the governor's wife. It also suspended her right to ask further commitment to any hospital should the governor be released from the hospital Friday.

Mrs. Long was part of the family faction that asked commitment of the governor to the mental hospital in Galveston May 30. Long contended he was forcibly removed from his mansion at Baton Rouge for the plane trip to Galveston. She also petitioned a court last week to confine the governor to Mandeville.

Long contended earlier his wife was "the most jealous woman in Louisiana."

Earlier in the day, Long summoned the State Hospital Board to a special and secret meeting Friday morning before the court hearing opens.

Board members, however, said they have not been informed of any such meeting.

Canton, China, Spared Flood

TOKYO (AP)—Dikes protecting teeming Canton have held firm, Radio Peiping said Friday, sparing the city from the ravages of one of south China's worst floods.

The city of 1½ million was threatened by the towering crests of two rivers that converge at Samshui, about 30 miles west of Canton.

The broadcast said the floodwaters of the rivers had thundered together Thursday and the combined water flow rushed down the fertile Pearl River delta and into the sea early Thursday.

Water levels on the rivers then began to slowly recede, the radio added.

Hundreds of thousands of peasants were drafted to battle the floods caused by torrential rains.

Dikes were raised from 1½ feet to 3 feet and reinforced, Peiping said.

There was no further casualty reports beyond one which said that 187 persons died, two million were affected and 17 per cent of early rice crops were damaged in the province.

Ike's Book Polish Hit

WARSAW (AP) — The scarcest and most sought after book in Poland this week is a translation of President Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." The Ministry of National Defense had 5,000 copies printed and they were snapped up. There are no plans for a new printing, it said.

Crew Abandons Freighter After Great Lakes Crash

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — Two foreign freighters collided in foggy Lake Huron off Thunder Bay Island Thursday. Two hours later Coast Guard officials said one of the freighters appeared doomed.

The former Liberty ship Monrovia was reported taking water in two holds and her engine room. Her captain and 29-man crew, who abandoned the vessel when it collided with the Canadian freighter Royalton, were picked up by a third ship.

The Royalton stood by to aide in rescue and possible salvage work.

The Monrovia's captain returned to his ship an hour after the crash to determine if she could be saved. Coast Guard officials said his inspection showed she was taking water at four different locations and that there was no chance of keeping her afloat.

The Monrovia carrying a cargo of steel, is out of Monrovia, Liberia. The Royalton is owned by the F. Scott Misener, Ltd. of Port Colbourne, Ont.

The Coast Guard said the Monrovia had been abandoned by her captain and crew within a few minutes after the crash. They were taken off by the Norman W. Foy, a freighter owned by the Browning Steamship Lines of Detroit.

The last major ship disaster on the Great Lakes occurred last Nov. 18 when the freighter Carl D. Bradley broke up and sank in Lake Michigan. Thirty-three crewmen lost their lives. Two men survived. The scene of the Bradley sinking was almost due west, across the tip of Lower Michigan, from Thursday's collision.

Each Spurns Other's Pact Extension Bid

Industry Proposes Deadlocked Talks Be Resumed Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry Thursday night rejected a union offer to extend present steel contracts from July 1 to July 15 with a guarantee of retroactive benefit gains.

The decision seemed to rule out a delay of a Wednesday strike threat.

The steel makers at the same time proposed that the stalled contract negotiations resume at 10 a.m. Friday.

The companies and union traded proposals to extend present contracts beyond their scheduled June 30 expiration. But each side rejected the other's extension plan, leaving in effect a strike threat Wednesday.

Union Response Awaited

It appeared that negotiations would continue in efforts to reach agreement before the Wednesday walkout deadline. But there was no immediate union response to the industry bid to resume talks Friday, although the union has been saying it is willing to talk with the industry at any time.

The industry had said it will have to start closing down Friday in anticipation of a Wednesday strike.

The Steelworkers' offer came earlier in the day from David J. McDonald, union president. He coupled the offer with a demand that any new steel contract gains eventually negotiated would date back to July 1.

Counter-Proposal

The offer countered a proposal made Wednesday by the steel industry that present contracts be extended indefinitely without any retroactive feature. McDonald made it clear the union would not consider an extension without retroactivity. He said the industry had often agreed to retroactivity in the past.

McDonald submitted the union's alternate extension plan to the industry after day-long meetings with the Steelworkers' Executive Board and International Wage Policy Committee.

The wage policy group, in an angry statement, said the union had made fair, reasonable and noninflationary settlement offers but the industry enjoying its greatest profit rate in history, had balked completely at granting any concessions.

Debt Limit Hike Bill Sent To Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, working against a Tuesday deadline, gave final congressional approval Thursday to a one-year emergency boost in the national debt ceiling to a peacetime record of 295 billion dollars.

The Senate passed the increase and sent it to the White House only a few hours after its Finance Committee approved the House-passed legislation 11-0. The bill passed the full Senate on a non-record voice vote.

In addition to permitting a record peacetime temporary debt, the bill would allow the permanent debt ceiling to rise to 285 billion dollars.

President Eisenhower requested the new temporary limit of 295 billion to tide over the Treasury during the lean tax collection period ahead. Treasury borrowing during July - December is expected to send the debt up to about 292 billion.

The present 288 billion temporary ceiling expires at midnight June 30.

Hotel Ruins Yield Five More Bodies

VOSSESTRAND, Norway (UPI) — Five more bodies were recovered by search crews Thursday from the ruins of the Stalheim Hotel which was swept by fire while crowded with American tourists Tuesday.

It raised to 15 the number of bodies found in the wreckage. Nine persons still were missing.

The U. S. State Department said 17 Americans are presumed dead.

Starkweather Goes To His Death Calmly

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The bloody story of Charles Starkweather, garbage hauler turned killer, ended Thursday.

Death in the electric chair at 12:05 a.m. closed out the career of the 20-year-old red-haired slayer of 11.

He was calm and self-controlled to the end. He had no last words other than a queried "What's your hurry?" to prison attendants who took him to the execution chamber.

The prison doctor, assigned the responsibility of pronouncing Starkweather dead, suffered a fatal heart attack.

Dr. B.A. Finkle, 75, was stricken outside the warden's office and died about half an hour before the execution. Alternate doctors carried on.

Tears which trickled down the cheeks of Deputy Warden John Greenholtz after the electrocution were not for Starkweather, but for Dr. Finkle, Greenholtz said.

When the hour of execution approached, prison officials dispersed a crowd of 50 teen-agers who gathered outside the prison, rock 'n' roll rhythms blaring from their car radios.

The execution followed a day of desperate legal efforts by Starkweather's parents and Washington attorneys to obtain a reprieve.

Four earlier execution dates had been stayed by appeals and legal maneuvers.

Starkweather's ex-sweetheart and traveling companion on a murder rampage 17 months ago, Caril Fugate, now 15, apparently was unaware of the killer's execution.

At the York Women's State Reformatory where Caril is serving a life sentence, Supt. Hattie Bowley said the girl had been told nothing. Caril's life sentence is for the same slaying for which Starkweather was executed.

De Valera Takes Oath As Prsident

DUBLIN (UPI) — Elder statesman Eamon De Valera stepped into the nation's highest office and out of the political arena Thursday.

The grizzled old Irish patriot took the oath of office as president of the Irish Republic but in doing so, he took over a largely ceremonial job and gave up the politically powerful post of prime minister.

Guns boomed a salute across the flag-decked capital for the historic occasion. They were silenced only when the new President's inaugural procession stopped in front of the bullet-chipped General Post Office for one minute and all present held their hats over their hearts.

The GPO building was the scene of the first major battle in Ireland's bloody uprising against British rule in 1916. De Valera was one of the leaders of the rebellion that finally led to Irish independence.

Montreal Gives Queen, Husband Big Reception

MONTREAL (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II got a ticker tape welcome in a near mob scene Thursday. It was an enthusiastic prelude to formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway Friday by the Queen and President Eisenhower.

Close-pressing crowds, estimated by police to number hundreds of thousands, moved in on Elizabeth and her handsome husband, Prince Philip, as they rode through town in an open car.

The crowds were so close in downtown sections of this French-speaking city of some two million that they touched the royal car. Some reached to shake hands with Philip. The police-escorted motorcade occasionally was slowed almost to a stop.

The Queen and Philip arrived here aboard the royal yacht Britannia late Wednesday, but this was their first appearance in the city.

Montreal is a hub for the Friday ceremonies officially opening the St. Lawrence Seaway, a joint U.S.-Canadian project that opens the heartland of America to the deep-sea ships. Actually operations began April 25. More than 1,500 vessels have since used the waterway.

In the high spot, Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower will make a 31-mile cruise aboard her six-million-dollar yacht.

That will take them through the first two in the series of locks that raise or lower shipping 224 feet. That is the difference between the water levels of the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario.

Five thousand official guests have been invited. More than 50,000 spectators are expected.

Sitdown Strike Ends

FISHCROSS, Scotland (AP) — A two-day sitdown strike by 58 coal miners 600 feet underground ended Thursday. But 16,000 other miners who quit their jobs in sympathy were still out. Forty-three of Scotland's 160 mines are idle. The strike was in protest of the National Coal Board's decision to close the mine because it is losing money.

Dominican Planes Fire Shots Near U.S. Vessel

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla. (AP)—The crew of an American freighter reported Thursday Dominican Republic airplanes fired shots near their vessel Monday night and a gunboat sent a shot over their bow.

The SS Florida State, a 411-foot cement carrier, docked here after a voyage from Ponce, Puerto Rico.

Capt. O. E. Williams of the freighter said the ship was cruising 10 miles off the east coast of the Dominican Republic when two planes circled three times and each fired five rounds which splashed into the water between 40 and 50 yards from the vessel.

Mason R. Scott of Tampa, the ship's quartermaster, said a gunboat stopped the Florida State half an hour after the planes appeared.

He reported it fired a shot over the vessel's bow. When the Florida State stopped, a gunboat officer questioned Capt. Williams about its registry, destination, cargo and crew.

Then he said proceed, Scott reported.

The quartermaster said the Florida State was not flying the U.S. flag at the time but "it stayed up after that."

Williams reported the ship also was stopped by a gunboat on its outward run to Ponce.

Summit Parley "Chain" Urged By Macmillan

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called on Thursday for a "chain" of summit meetings to solve the world's cold war problems.

"A summit meeting should not be thought of as a single peak but as one of a continuous chain" Macmillan told a rally of women members of the Conservative Party in Royal Albert Hall.

"Thus there would be established in the world the principle that the great powers, however wide their divergencies, however broad the gulf between their different views of life, have at least this in common — that the preservation of peace is the vital interest to us all."

The Prime Minister said it was a great gain that the world had progressed from the "atmosphere of ultimatum" last November, when Russia demanded that the Allies get out of Berlin, to an "atmosphere of negotiation". He said it would be an even greater gain if the Foreign Ministers' talks at Geneva resulted in the first of a "chain" of summit meetings.

Man Fined $182 For Ignoring 25 Traffic Tickets

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 27-year-old motorist who ignored 25 traffic tickets was fined $182 Thursday.

Magistrate Harold L. Frankel imposed the penalty on George M. C. Nelson Jr., who was arrested at his home after police, working on an old address listing, had sought him for months.

Nelson, a business machine salesman, was fined $100.75 on an usual misdemeanor charge of failing to appear in court to answer a charge of making an illegal left turn.

Frankel said he would use the misdemeanor charge in the future against motorists who sign statements promising to appear in court then fail to do so.

Nelson also was fined $81.45 on 15 charges of parking illegally and was acquitted on nine similar counts.

Summit Parley "Chain" Urged By Macmillan

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called on Thursday for a "chain" of summit meetings to solve the world's cold war problems.

"A summit meeting should not be thought of as a single peak but as one of a continuous chain" Macmillan told a rally of women members of the Conservative Party in Royal Albert Hall.

"Thus there would be established in the world the principle that the great powers, however wide their divergencies, however broad the gulf between their different views of life, have at least this in common — that the preservation of peace is the vital interest to us all."

The Prime Minister said it was a great gain that the world had progressed from the "atmosphere of ultimatum" last November, when Russia demanded that the Allies get out of Berlin, to an "atmosphere of negotiation". He said it would be an even greater gain if the Foreign Ministers' talks at Geneva resulted in the first of a "chain" of summit meetings.

Difference Of Opinion

MONTREAL (AP) — The huge crowds that came to watch Queen Elizabeth pass through Montreal Thursday apparently had a wide variety of opinions. As a press bus drove past someone shouted: "We want Stevenson."

Four out of every 10 Americans have brown eyes, one-third have blue and the rest hazel, gray or black.

Geneva Talks, As Feared, Boost East-West Tension

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The Geneva conference has done just what the Western camp always fears such conferences will do. It has increased, not relaxed, East-West tensions.

Why? Because it emphasizes that negotiations with the Soviet Union are, as U.S. Secretary Christian A. Herter said, "practically fruitless."

Why? Because the Soviets have specific designs on Western Europe and the rest of the world which it will not accept and which they will not renounce.

Yet these things are nothing new.

Herter's report to the country has produced a hardened attitude toward the Soviet Union as expressed through congressional reaction.

There is in evidence a growing tendency to accept the fact that the cold war will have to be fought out to a finish, and to face the possibility that this conflict can produce hot war.

The American attitude toward Communist attempts to drive the West out of Western Berlin has now been reiterated, to general applause, to the point where any backdown becomes impossible.

At the same time, Soviet intransigence makes compromise settlement seem just as impossible.

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is still trying, however, to open the door to a summit conference.

As against Herter's "practically fruitless" statement, Macmillan says the "degree of success" at Geneva should not be underrated, since the positions are more clarified.

If he means that the Soviet Union will stop pushing because convinced the Allies will not yield, he goes against the record.

Nevertheless, Herter did not slam the door on a summit conference. He left it cracked. He knows Macmillan will soon face an election campaign in a Britain which fears annihilation in an atomic war, and where "keeping the door open" is a political maxim.

Underground A-Tests Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday the United States will have to go ahead with underground nuclear testing on its own if the Soviets do not join in an agreement for joint tests.

McCone told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee such action would be necessary to improve U.S. methods of detecting nuclear explosions. He said the AEC is planning preliminary underground testing sometime this summer with non-nuclear high explosives.

Then, he said, if the Soviet Union will not agree in current negotiations at Geneva to join in such technical testing to produce standards for an agreement to ban nuclear weapons testing, "we will initiate our own program" in this field "as it must be done."

The current moratorium on nuclear weapons testing runs through October. The use of nuclear weapons to perfect the existing system for detection and identification of nuclear explosions could not be undertaken until it ends, McCone said.

First Auto Fund Claim Approved

BALTIMORE (AP) — The first claim has been processed under Maryland's new law designed to protect motorists from total losses in accidents caused by uninsured drivers.

Dan M. Vann, manager of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund, said Wednesday a $160 payment from the fund had been approved for Michael D. Carney of Baltimore.

He said Carney's automobile was damaged when it was struck by an automobile operated by an uninsured motorist.

The claim was processed and the state treasurer has been asked to mail Carney a check for the approved amount, Vann said.

The fund was set up by the Legislature to protect motorists against losses caused by reckless and financially irresponsible drivers. It is made up of a single $1 payment from each insured motorist, continuing $8 annual payments from uninsured motorists and a share of premiums from liability insurance companies.

Motor, Oil, Drug, Tire Stocks Bolster Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks once again capped a firm, moderately active session with a rush of buying that centered in motor, oil, drug and tire shares, and boosted turnover to the best level in two weeks.

Of the leading groups only the metals met any substantial selling reflecting in part further price cuts for copper metal. Kennecott and Anaconda lost over a point, Magma more than 2 points. Reynolds Metals fell 2⅞ Alcoa 1⅝ in the aluminums.

Auto shares tood out as pace setters with gains ranging past 2 points in American Motors which was the day's most actively traded issue. Studebaker-Packard followed in the active list with a gain of 1½ points to 12⅛. Chrysler rose 1⅜, Ford and General Motors major fractions.

Oils, long-depressed and considered by many ripe for an upside whirl, met late demand which lifted Richfield 2½ points, Atlantic Refining 2, Kerr McGee 2⅜, Standard of California more than a point and most others in the group at least fractions. High priced Superior Oil of California, off 40 points at the day's low, finished with a 20 point gain to 1760.

Electronics were in demand most of the session and despite some late uncertainty closed with substantial gains—3½ in Ampex, 2⅞ Siegler, 1⅛ Philco. Litton lost 1¾ points.

A holystone on shipboard is used for scrubbing decks.

Motor, Oil, Drug, Tire Stocks Bolster Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks once again capped a firm, moderately active session with a rush of buying that centered in motor, oil, drug and tire shares, and boosted turnover to the best level in two weeks.

Of the leading groups only the metals met any substantial selling reflecting in part further price cuts for copper metal. Kennecott and Anaconda lost over a point, Magma more than 2 points. Reynolds Metals fell 2⅞ Alcoa 1⅝ in the aluminums.

Auto shares tood out as pace setters with gains ranging past 2 points in American Motors which was the day's most actively traded issue. Studebaker-Packard followed in the active list with a gain of 1½ points to 12⅛. Chrysler rose 1⅜, Ford and General Motors major fractions.

Oils, long-depressed and considered by many ripe for an upside whirl, met late demand which lifted Richfield 2½ points, Atlantic Refining 2, Kerr McGee 2⅜, Standard of California more than a point and most others in the group at least fractions. High priced Superior Oil of California, off 40 points at the day's low, finished with a 20 point gain to 1760.

Electronics were in demand most of the session and despite some late uncertainty closed with substantial gains—3½ in Ampex, 2⅞ Siegler, 1⅛ Philco. Litton lost 1¾ points.

A holystone on shipboard is used for scrubbing decks.

Replica Of Constellation N.Y.-Bound

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 28 - foot replica of the renowned frigate Constellation sailed serenely out of Baltimore harbor Thursday for New York. Her sponsors hope by the visit to raise enough money to restore her namesake, the original Constellation, a rotting, stripped-down hulk tied up at a pier in downtown Baltimore.

Aboard the small ship are five teen-age sea scouts, a history professor, a businessman, a shipyard owner, two naval officers and the skipper of the frigate Constellation.

The replica can make way with her sails, but in harbors and through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal she will be powered by two 35-horsepower outboard motors.

The trip to New York is expected to take four days. A Coast Guard cutter will escort her up Chesapeake Bay and through the canal, and a Navy blimp will take over shepherding duties off the Jersey coast.

The original Constellation, launched in Baltimore on Sept. 7, 1797, and is the oldest ship in the U.S. Navy. She was brought back to Baltimore two years ago to be enshrined. Funds are being sought to enshrine her properly at Ft. McHenry, inspiration for the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner," the national anthem.

Wife Charged With Slaying USIA Official

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — Dale Nutter, an official of the U.S. Information Agency, was shot to death early Thursday in the expensive home he and his wife had moved into only a week ago. Mrs. Nutter was charged with murder.

Detective James Cowden said his inquiry indicated that Mrs. Nutter, 49, shot her husband in the back of the head as he slept in an upstairs room at about 5:45 a.m.

He said she told him that a second shot from the .32 caliber revolver had been meant for herself but she missed. The bullet, the detective said, lodged in the ceiling.

Police said that after the shooting, Mrs. Nutter called a physician, who in turn called police and Mrs. Nutter's attorney.

Cowden quoted Mrs. Nutter as saying that her husband had been "disrupting the household for 12 years by beating me and drinking heavily."

In the home at the time was Mrs. Nutter's 84-year-old mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall. The couple had no children.

Mrs. Nutter was released under $10,000 bond for a preliminary hearing scheduled for July 22.

Nutter, 50, was chief of the USIA's finance reports section and had been with the agency since its inception in 1953. Prior to that he had been with the State Department's budget division. In all, he had been with the government about 25 years.

Born in Mount Nebo, W. Va., he came to Washington in his youth. He and Mrs. Nutter had known each other since school days in Washington.

Friends said that for years the Nutters had planned the split-level home they finally moved into in the Lake Barcroft area, a community that includes many elaborate residences.

One builder estimated the cost of their home at $90,000. Purchase of the home was made possible through the sale of nine acres Nutter owned along Columbia Pike in Arlington, where the couple had lived since the early 1930s.

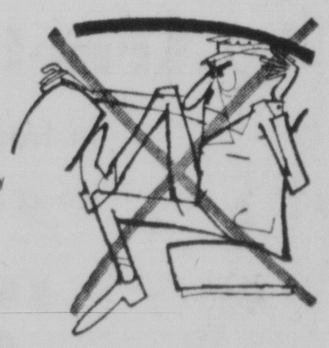
You get the BIG comfort dividends in your 59 FORD...



Some cars' door openings aren't shaped to fit people! So you have to squirm and wriggle . . . make your body conform to the car when getting in and out.

NO SQUIRM

Doors in 59 Fords are wider—up to six inches wider—and door openings are contoured to fit you! You get in and out of a Ford with greater ease and comfort. The girls really like Ford's doors . . . for they know they can always make graceful entries and exits.

To gain a low roof line, some cars end up with higher floor "humps" and thinly padded rear seats . . . a combination that's mighty rough on the middleman.

NO SQUEEZE

Fords have useable seating space for six big people. The driveshaft tunnel is lower and rear seats are deeply cushioned all the way across. This means more comfort for all passengers . . . especially for the man in the middle.

The squeezed-down, skimpy roofs of some cars aren't comfortable even for bare-headed riders. And they don't keep out excessive sunlight and glare.

NO SQUASH

See how much more head room Ford has. Even big six-footers sit up straight without touching the roof. And Ford's big roof protects all passengers, in both front and rear seats, against the discomforts of excessive glare and heat from the sun.

Greater comfort is only the beginning of the dividends you get in a Ford. You get a dividend for your pride in any of the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Cars. You get a big dividend in Ford prices . . . the lowest of the best-selling three. And you get saving dividends that cut costs every mile you drive. See and Action Test a new Ford at your Ford Dealer's. See how you can go finer . . . with more comfort . . . for less . . . in a new Ford!

Replica Of Constellation N.Y.-Bound

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 28 - foot replica of the renowned frigate Constellation sailed serenely out of Baltimore harbor Thursday for New York. Her sponsors hope by the visit to raise enough money to restore her namesake, the original Constellation, a rotting, stripped-down hulk tied up at a pier in downtown Baltimore.

Aboard the small ship are five teen-age sea scouts, a history professor, a businessman, a shipyard owner, two naval officers and the skipper of the frigate Constellation.

The replica can make way with her sails, but in harbors and through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal she will be powered by two 35-horsepower outboard motors.

The trip to New York is expected to take four days. A Coast Guard cutter will escort her up Chesapeake Bay and through the canal, and a Navy blimp will take over shepherding duties off the Jersey coast.

The original Constellation, launched in Baltimore on Sept. 7, 1797, and is the oldest ship in the U.S. Navy. She was brought back to Baltimore two years ago to be enshrined. Funds are being sought to enshrine her properly at Ft. McHenry, inspiration for the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner," the national anthem.

Wife Charged With Slaying USIA Official

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — Dale Nutter, an official of the U.S. Information Agency, was shot to death early Thursday in the expensive home he and his wife had moved into only a week ago. Mrs. Nutter was charged with murder.

Detective James Cowden said his inquiry indicated that Mrs. Nutter, 49, shot her husband in the back of the head as he slept in an upstairs room at about 5:45 a.m.

He said she told him that a second shot from the .32 caliber revolver had been meant for herself but she missed. The bullet, the detective said, lodged in the ceiling.

Police said that after the shooting, Mrs. Nutter called a physician, who in turn called police and Mrs. Nutter's attorney.

Cowden quoted Mrs. Nutter as saying that her husband had been "disrupting the household for 12 years by beating me and drinking heavily."

In the home at the time was Mrs. Nutter's 84-year-old mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall. The couple had no children.

Mrs. Nutter was released under $10,000 bond for a preliminary hearing scheduled for July 22.

Nutter, 50, was chief of the USIA's finance reports section and had been with the agency since its inception in 1953. Prior to that he had been with the State Department's budget division. In all, he had been with the government about 25 years.

Born in Mount Nebo, W. Va., he came to Washington in his youth. He and Mrs. Nutter had known each other since school days in Washington.

Friends said that for years the Nutters had planned the split-level home they finally moved into in the Lake Barcroft area, a community that includes many elaborate residences.

One builder estimated the cost of their home at $90,000. Purchase of the home was made possible through the sale of nine acres Nutter owned along Columbia Pike in Arlington, where the couple had lived since the early 1930s.

Mrs. Arnold was returned to Baltimore Wednesday from the Virginia State Industrial Farm for Women at Goochland, Va., to face the charges. She had completed part of a four-year sentence in the Virginia institution on similar charges.

Woman Hangs Self With Electric Cord

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Edna Etta Pierce was found dead in her home Thursday. Police called it a suicide, saying she had hanged herself with a light cord. Mrs. Pierce reportedly had been despondent and in ill health recently. Survivors include her husband and three children.

Electric eels can give a shock equivalent to 400 volts.

Shot With Nail

BALTIMORE (AP) — Louis James, 25, shot himself with a 3-inch nail Thursday.

Explorer Scouts To Leave Today For New Mexico

Eight local and area Boy Scouts accompanied by an adult advisor leave here today for a two-week trip west which will be climaxed by a stay at Philmont, BSA ranch near Cimarron, N. M.

Scout Leader W. Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern Junior-Senior High School at Oakland, will be advisor and accompany the group which will include Harley Winer of Troop 80, who resides at 1000 Camden Avenue; Chris Franklin, Troop 58, of 42 Main Street, Keyser; Eric Sheetz, Troop 27, of 135 South Main Street, Keyser; Douglas Durst, Troop 82, of the Methodist Home at Burlington; Thomas Forman, Explorer Post 31, Oakland; Dorris Updyke, Post 31, Oakland; Porter Welch, Troop 70, Mt. Lake Park; and Roy Phillips, Post 17, Carpenter's Addition, Ridgeley.

Winer has been named reporter for the expedition.

The boys are representing Potomac Council at the ranch outing to be attended by Boy Scouts from throughout the United States. Each boy is paying his own way and all arrangements were made through Willis V. Smith, scout executive for Potomac Council.

On the trip west, the boys will decide in which sector of the ranch they wish to camp. Among the features offered are a trained archaeologist and his party which camp there and expeditions which spend as much time as the boys want in helping with excavations and preparing specimens; a running deer target range and a .22 calibre rifle range where a Scout can fire for National Rifle Association awards; and burros are available for an expedition of several days. Relics of old gold mines and geological formations dot the area. Logging once was an important industry in the area and units interested in forestry, trail building and soil conservation can spend their time in that sector. Excellent fishing facilities are available.

The group will leave by B&O train today at 7:25 p. m. (EST) arriving in Chicago Saturday where they will transfer to the Sante Fe Railroad. Arriving at Colorado Springs, Colo., Sunday, arrangements are being made for sightseeing tours by bus. Scouts will have the opportunity to remain overnight at a Koshare Indian kiva at Lajunta, leaving there Monday. They will arrive at Raton, N. M., and the Scout ranch at 11 a. m. Monday.

The return trip will be started July 10. A sightseeing tour of Kansas City has been arranged. They will arrive back in Cumberland at 12:15 p. m. (EST) Sunday, July 12.

Scouts will travel with full gear. All must be 14 years of age or over.

Smith said two tickets are available through a group purchase plan, and interested Scouts may contact the Potomac Council headquarters for the two berths.

Pie Stars Favorite Of Summer Fruits

Want an eye-catching praise-winning dessert for that wonderful family of yours? You'll find such a treat, when you serve a luscious Sweet Cherry Revel Pie. And the secret of success is fresh sweet cherries, plump, juicy, with natural sweetness, resting in a creamy vanilla pudding and accented with tangy pineapple. Nothing could be as refreshing to top off a summer evening meal.

Eating a few fresh sweet cherries is good, but eating more is that much better. There's something about this delectable fruit which is irresistible. Whether you choose the dark red Bings, crimson Lamberts or golden, blushing Royal Annes, you are assured of a fine treat. The lengthening warm days of Spring and gentle rains work their magic on the cherry orchards of the Northwest, transforming the fluffy snowy blossoms into big sweet cherries, full of fine flavor and bursting with juice.

Fresh sweet cherries are a wonderful fruit for so many occasions. For eating just "as is," they make a wonderful between meal snack, quick dessert, and a perfect picnic food. For a fancier occasion, fresh sweet cherries fit into any of a number of salads, desserts, and sauces.

Cherry growers have found that when they pack the lugs of cherries with polyethylene liners, the cherries maintain their fresh color and firm flesh during shipping. Homemakers can also extend the life of cherries several days by wrapping the fruit, unwashed, in plastic bags and storing them in the refrigerator until they are used.

Sweet Cherry Revel Pie

2 cups prepared fresh sweet cherries
1 No. 2 can pineapple tidbits, drained
1 package vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk
½ cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon sugar
Few drops pure vanilla
1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Bake pie shell. Wash, pit, halve and measure cherries. Combine with pineapple. Cook vanilla pudding and milk according to package directions. Cool. Pour one-half of pudding into pie shell. Spoon over ½ of fruit mixture. Top with remaining pudding and then remaining fruit. Chill. Whip cream; add sugar and vanilla; serve over pie. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Keep Meals On Schedule With Frozen Main Courses

You can turn "time" into a real friend . . . especially at mealtime . . . if you use such modern-day foods as frozen prepared main courses.

Choose from meat loaf, beef, fried chicken, sliced turkey, or 2 new main courses: Chicken with noodles (8½ ounces) contains tender chunks of chicken, egg noodles, peas, and sweet red pepper in a rich gravy, topped with golden bread crumbs. Seafood au gratin . . . in the same size container . . . holds a bed of fluffy rice, shrimp, haddock, and chunks of lobster in a cheesy cream sauce; all topped with golden crumbs.

Meat loaf main course contains a thick slice of juicy meat loaf . . . surrounded with rich red tomato sauce . . . and cut green beans. About 25 minutes in a 450 degree F. oven and your entree is ready. On anyone's cooking schedule this is a definite saving in time and energy.

Make a frozen fruit salad . . . to tuck in the refrigerator . . . right after lunch. Then enjoy the long afternoon with thoughts of an easy dinner ahead.

Tropical Fruit Salad

2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup orange sections, halved and drained
½ cup pineapple tidbits, drained
⅓ cup slivered maraschino cherries, drained
¼ cup slivered toasted almonds
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar

Beat cream cheese with lemon juice in electric mixer. Fold in fruits and almonds. In another bowl, combine cream, sugar, and ginger; beat until soft peaks form. Fold cream into fruit-nut mixture. Spoon into ice cube tray; place in freezer for 2 to 3 hours. Slice and serve on salad greens. Makes 6 servings.

City Marble Champ Third In National Competition

Delbert Proudfoot, 14-year-old Cumberland representative in the national marbles tournament, finished third in his league at the windup of yesterday's play at Asbury Park, N. J.

Proudfoot posted a seven win-five loss mark in yesterday's shooting, two of his losses being credited to the League 2 champion, Frank Osislo of Reading, Pa., who topped the shooters with a 47-13 record.

Finishing in second place in the league was Dick Hickman of Huntington, W. Va., who had been a favorite to win the national title this year. Hickman was runnerup in the two previous national championship events.

The other shooters in League 2, Charley Fox of Wausau, Wis., and Mike Cichetta of Altoona, had been eliminated earlier in the week, although they continued to participate each day. Fox wound up with a 23-37 record, and Cichetta finished with a 3-57 mark.

The semi-finals and finals will be shot today and Osislo will be competing against a field of Pennsylvania and West Virginia champions. Facing him will be William Greer of Pittsburgh, League 1; Matt Wysocki of Wilkes Barre, League 3; Richard Kimsal, also of Wilkes Barre, League 4; Bill Sizemore of Mullens, W. Va., League 5, and Charles Duffy of Summersville, W. Va., League 6.

The national girl mibster champion was decided yesterday, with the crown going to Sondra Stefanechick of Yonkers, N. Y. Her victory marked the third consecutive year that the girl champion is from that city.

C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, who accompanied Proudfoot to the New Jersey resort, said the Cumberland representative lost to the league champion yesterday by 4-7, 0-7, and 6-7 scores. In the six games he shot against Osislo, young Del lost three times by a single marble, Mason said.

He added that Proudfoot would have finished higher except for his first-day score of six wins and 10 losses, which Mason attributed to a "case of jitters."

The tournament will wind up with an awards luncheon today when the national champion will officially be "crowned," Mason said. Each league champion will be awarded a bicycle, while the runnersup will be given baseball gloves.

Proudfoot, whose trip to the tournament was sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club, had a one-man cheering section in the person of his father, O. Delbert Proudfoot, 408, Woodside Avenue.

Mason and the Cumberland champion expect to return home late this evening.

Keep Meals On Schedule With Frozen Main Courses

You can turn "time" into a real friend . . . especially at mealtime . . . if you use such modern-day foods as frozen prepared main courses.

Choose from meat loaf, beef, fried chicken, sliced turkey, or 2 new main courses: Chicken with noodles (8½ ounces) contains tender chunks of chicken, egg noodles, peas, and sweet red pepper in a rich gravy, topped with golden bread crumbs. Seafood au gratin . . . in the same size container . . . holds a bed of fluffy rice, shrimp, haddock, and chunks of lobster in a cheesy cream sauce; all topped with golden crumbs.

Meat loaf main course contains a thick slice of juicy meat loaf . . . surrounded with rich red tomato sauce . . . and cut green beans. About 25 minutes in a 450 degree F. oven and your entree is ready. On anyone's cooking schedule this is a definite saving in time and energy.

Make a frozen fruit salad . . . to tuck in the refrigerator . . . right after lunch. Then enjoy the long afternoon with thoughts of an easy dinner ahead.

Tropical Fruit Salad

2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup orange sections, halved and drained
½ cup pineapple tidbits, drained
⅓ cup slivered maraschino cherries, drained
¼ cup slivered toasted almonds
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar

Beat cream cheese with lemon juice in electric mixer. Fold in fruits and almonds. In another bowl, combine cream, sugar, and ginger; beat until soft peaks form. Fold cream into fruit-nut mixture. Spoon into ice cube tray; place in freezer for 2 to 3 hours. Slice and serve on salad greens. Makes 6 servings.

City Marble Champ Third In National Competition

Delbert Proudfoot, 14-year-old Cumberland representative in the national marbles tournament, finished third in his league at the windup of yesterday's play at Asbury Park, N. J.

Proudfoot posted a seven win-five loss mark in yesterday's shooting, two of his losses being credited to the League 2 champion, Frank Osislo of Reading, Pa., who topped the shooters with a 47-13 record.

Finishing in second place in the league was Dick Hickman of Huntington, W. Va., who had been a favorite to win the national title this year. Hickman was runnerup in the two previous national championship events.

The other shooters in League 2, Charley Fox of Wausau, Wis., and Mike Cichetta of Altoona, had been eliminated earlier in the week, although they continued to participate each day. Fox wound up with a 23-37 record, and Cichetta finished with a 3-57 mark.

The semi-finals and finals will be shot today and Osislo will be competing against a field of Pennsylvania and West Virginia champions. Facing him will be William Greer of Pittsburgh, League 1; Matt Wysocki of Wilkes Barre, League 3; Richard Kimsal, also of Wilkes Barre, League 4; Bill Sizemore of Mullens, W. Va., League 5, and Charles Duffy of Summersville, W. Va., League 6.

The national girl mibster champion was decided yesterday, with the crown going to Sondra Stefanechick of Yonkers, N. Y. Her victory marked the third consecutive year that the girl champion is from that city.

C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, who accompanied Proudfoot to the New Jersey resort, said the Cumberland representative lost to the league champion yesterday by 4-7, 0-7, and 6-7 scores. In the six games he shot against Osislo, young Del lost three times by a single marble, Mason said.

He added that Proudfoot would have finished higher except for his first-day score of six wins and 10 losses, which Mason attributed to a "case of jitters."

The tournament will wind up with an awards luncheon today when the national champion will officially be "crowned," Mason said. Each league champion will be awarded a bicycle, while the runnersup will be given baseball gloves.

Proudfoot, whose trip to the tournament was sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club, had a one-man cheering section in the person of his father, O. Delbert Proudfoot, 408, Woodside Avenue.

Mason and the Cumberland champion expect to return home late this evening.

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—A mother told a juvenile court Thursday that she was kept a virtual prisoner in her own home by her 13-year-old daughter. The mother said for a while she had been going out once every year, on her wedding anniversary, but her daughter had stopped that. The court said the girl was "beyond control" and decided to take up the case again July 19

Star Salad For Independence Day Party

Having a luncheon party or a buffet supper to celebrate Independence Day? A gelatin salad, using ginger ale as the liquid and chilled in a star-shaped mold, makes an attractive main dish. The ginger ale adds zest and gives a glistening, bubbly appearance to the salad.

Not only for a party, but for light appealing meals all through the hot weather, gelatin salads made with ginger ale are delicious and satisfying. Economical, too, as they utilize small amounts of left-over vegetables that might otherwise be wasted.

Try this one for the Fourth and you'll make it often.

Sparkling Star Salad

- 2 cups ginger ale
- 2 envelopes (2 tbsps.) unflavored gelatin
- 2 cups diced cooked chicken
- 1 cup cooked or canned peas
- ½ cup cooked diced carrots
- ¼ cup diced cucumber
- 3 tablespoons minced celery
- 2 tablespoons drained pickle relish
- 1 cup mayonnaise

Sprinkle gelatin over ginger ale to soften; stir over hot water until dissolved. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white; fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into a 5-cup star mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until set. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with extra mayonnaise, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Hard-Cooked Eggs Are Ideal For Picnics

Going on a picnic? Hard-cooked eggs have long been favorite picnic fare. The easiest way to prepare, carry and keep eggs for outing menus is in the shell.

In an unbroken shell hard-cooked eggs keep for hours without refrigeration, thanks to the protection of the shell and the papery lining underneath. But if you plan to serve hard-cooked eggs out of the shell — stuffed, or in salad or sandwich filling — keep them cold from the time they are shelled until they are served. Keep the eggs or the egg mixture in the refrigerator until you pack the picnic lunch, and carry them safely in a chilled, insulated or iced food container.

When you buy eggs for hard-cooking, those of top quality (Grades AA or A) are preferred. Top grades because of their thick whites and well-centered yolks are best for stuffing — both for appearance and because enough of the white all around the yolk holds the seasoned yolks. However, for cutting up for salad or chopping for sandwich filling, Grade B eggs are suitable.

Finally, about "hard-cooked" versus "hard-boiled" eggs. Even though it takes longer to simmer than to boil eggs, most people prefer the tender, firm white of the hard-cooked eggs to the tougher "hard-boiled" texture.

Here are directions for hard-cooking picnic eggs: Wash eggs, put them in a pan, cover completely with cold water, bring water to simmering temperature — that is, just below boiling — and simmer 20 to 25 minutes, depending on the size of the egg. After cooking, put the eggs at once in cold water, preferably cold running water. The chill halts the cooking and helps prevent dark color from forming on the outside of the yolk. When shelling hard-cooked eggs, speed the job by doing it under running water which helps carry off all bits of shell. Cold hard-cooked

The Anti-Fabian Position

I was in the shower the other day singing "'Twixt 45 and 50," the theme song of the Forgotten People (which is anyone over the age of fourteen), and feeling sorry for myself. The world, I reflected, is not run for us ancients. We are just here to pay the bills. (This is not a brand New Thought, I realize, but then what do you expect in a newspaper column-Wisdom? But even if it's old hat, there is a certain bitter truth in it, and this particular bitter truth needs constant reassertion if we are not to be overwhelmed by the Little People.)

It's not that I'm opposed to youth. Youth was great when I was a youth, but, by George, they broke the mold right after me. At least the mold I came out of could not have been the same one that produced Fabian who was on the Ed Sullivan Show the other night, caterwauling or whatever he was doing. Fabian, I have been informed, is one of the newer enthusiasms of our young set and one of the more presentable young singers.

Singers?

Presentable?

He was wearing a slipcover over an old tee shirt. The hair looked like something Medusa had sent back to the store as unworthy of her. Although, I'm told, he has been applauded as one of the more stationary and therefore admirable young entertainers (a word that has been thoroughly debased in my lifetime), he revolves like a top, snapping his fingers and jerking his eyeballs. Of course, he doesn't twitch like Elvis and, I suppose we ought to be grateful for small mercies.

As for his voice. . . well, of course, singers gave up singing years ago in favor of shouting — but this one can't even shout. The song he was mouthing, "Like a Tiger," was enormously improved by total unintelligibility. Just in case you could make out a word here and there — God forbid — they turned up the electric guitar (or whatever it is that makes that awful racket in the background) and just to be doubly sure that that horrible song and the dreadful voice of young Fabian are totally drowned out—the young audience is encouraged to shriek, whistle, stomp, and, if necessary, set fire to Ed Sullivan.

And that, fellers, is how a sweet chile becomes a teen-age idol in our wonderfully advanced civilization in this here 20th Century. Oh, there's one other requisite to becoming a popular singer these days: you got to be utterly loathesome to adults — and that ingredient this little fellow has in generous quantities. God bless his little growing bank account.

I suppose we were revolting against our parents, too, when we were little spratlings but the singers we liked — Bing Crosby, for example — could really sing. And you know why? Because he had to please not only us but our fathers and uncles because our fathers and uncles owned and operated the record companies and the radio networks and they didn't pay all that attention to the likes and dislikes of us little shavers. (In fact, I can't recall anyone paying any attention at all to me when I was thirteen.)

Today, the revolt is not so much against adults. It's against singing itself. It's against song itself. It's against — considering the quality of the lyrics — language itself.

Why do we put up with it? Record executives, who no longer pretend this junk is anything but horrible, plead that they have to cater to young tastes. But why? As Moss Hart has pointed out, it's ridiculous to be this subservient to the young. We're bigger than they are — and it's our house. And our TV set. And our record companies. And, dammit, we still got the vote, haven't we? If necessary, Fabian could be proclaimed unconstitutional and your small fry and mine couldn't do a thing to stop it.

The other day I was watching Jimmy Rodgers, another incomprehensible enthusiasm of the very young, singing "I'm Too Young to Marry—o" and I found myself yelling back at him: "You're too young to have your own show, too." That is an unmistakable sign of approaching madness. To argue with the set is weak-headed, but to argue with a teen-ager on television — obviously I'm coming unhinged.

When preparing a lamb roast, it is recommended that the fell be left on during the roasting period. Chops, however, will be more desirable if the fell is removed before broiling.

Because he had to please not only us but our fathers and uncles because our fathers and uncles owned and operated the record companies and the radio networks and they didn't pay all that attention to the likes and dislikes of us little shavers. (In fact, I can't recall anyone paying any attention at all to me when I was thirteen.)

Today, the revolt is not so much against adults. It's against singing itself. It's against song itself. It's against — considering the quality of the lyrics — language itself.

Why do we put up with it? Record executives, who no longer pretend this junk is anything but horrible, plead that they have to cater to young tastes. But why? As Moss Hart has pointed out, it's ridiculous to be this subservient to the young. We're bigger than they are — and it's our house. And our TV set. And our record companies. And, dammit, we still got the vote, haven't we? If necessary, Fabian could be proclaimed unconstitutional and your small fry and mine couldn't do a thing to stop it.

The other day I was watching Jimmy Rodgers, another incomprehensible enthusiasm of the very young, singing "I'm Too Young to Marry—o" and I found myself yelling back at him: "You're too young to have your own show, too." That is an unmistakable sign of approaching madness. To argue with the set is weak-headed, but to argue with a teen-ager on television — obviously I'm coming unhinged.

When preparing a lamb roast, it is recommended that the fell be left on during the roasting period. Chops, however, will be more desirable if the fell is removed before broiling.

Dress Up Ham Sandwich A La Goldenrod For Treat

Ham Sandwich A La Goldenrod is what you might consider a party version of an old standby.

Colorful and dainty in appearance, the idea for this ham sandwich was created and designed primarily with the ladies in mind.

This open faced ham sandwich idea is a perfect opportunity to use leftover slices of ham. However, the sandwich is quite dressy and you could serve it at lunch for the neighborhood clan and gain their admiration quickly.

In building this sandwich there are just 5 basic steps . . . the bread to toast, the ham and tomato to slice, the white sauce to prepare, the hard-cooked egg white to chop and the yolk to sieve.

A La Goldenrod

- 4 slices bread
- 4 slices (2 ounces each) cooked ham
- 4 slices tomato, cut ½ inch thick
- Salt
- ¼ cup finely chopped green onions
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 hard-cooked egg

Trim crusts from bread and place on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of the bread is 3 inches from the heat. Toast both sides of bread evenly until lightly browned. Place a ham slice on each piece of toast. Top each with a tomato slice and sprinkle with salt. Broil until lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Cook onions in butter or margarine 3 minutes or until tender. Stir flour and salt with onion. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cut egg in half and remove yolk. Chop egg white and add to sauce. Heat through. Top each broiled sandwich with about ¼ cup sauce. Rub the egg yolk through a sieve and sprinkle about 2 teaspoons of the sieved egg yolk on top of each sandwich. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 servings.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—With Thursday's Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson fight talk in the air, the aged but dauntless light-heavyweight champ Archie Moore chose an appropriate time to huddle with Sam Goldwyn Jr., about making his movie debut. Archie drove up from San Diego to talk with Sam Jr., about playing Jim in "Huckleberry Finn," his first straight acting part in front of a movie camera. But, come to think of it, ole Archie's done some very good "emoting" in the ring.

Young Goldwyn tells me that Jim is the role next in importance to "Huck's" in his MGM picture, "and I think Archie can act it. His speech on TV after his Yvon Durelle fight was a honey", said Sam Jr.

If Archie signs for the picture he'll still have to take time off to train for his rematch with Durelle on July 16.

Just before I left New York Connie Towers telephoned to tell me she and her bridegroom, Eugene McGrath, (I talked to him, too) return to Panama and will stay there until July 1.

"Then," said Connie, "we come out of the Coast where I am so happy to be working in 'Captain Buffalo' for John Ford again. 'The Horse Soldiers' was the greatest experience I ever had making pictures."

Gene comes with her and they will take a house in Malibu, but he'll be here temporarily as he has to return to Panama on business.

It's a lucky break both ways. Richard Burton getting the new Lerner and Loewe show, "Jenny Kissed Me" — or Lerner and Loewe getting Richard for their musical about King Arthur and his knights of the Round Table. Even though the Burtons are on the stork's calling list for a repeat visit, there will be much traveling around for them before Richard lands in the Broadway show.

Having just completed "The Bramble Bush" at Warners in Hollywood, his next stop is New York for the Hallmark spectacular, "Tempest," then on to the south of France to confer with Lerner and Loewe about "Jenny".

Enough to delight any woman's heart are the $70,000 worth of clothes whipped up for Deborah Kerr in "Beloved Infidel." One dress alone, a bronze beaded evening sheath that will require 12 women to put together, will cost $3,500. There are about 50 changes in all.

As a rule, Deborah isn't clothes conscious about her roles. But she played such a drab, dowdy spinster in "Separate Tables" (Even though it won her an Oscar nomination) she's glad to go glamorous again in the 20th film with Gregory Peck.

Tommy Sands came into the big time when he opened at the starlight roof of the Waldorf. He had the background of Count Basie's progressive jazz music, and Tommy had not only the teen-agers but the older people beating time. He sang both jazz numbers and several ballads.

In our party were the Paul Cunninghams, Jimmy McHugh, Ed Sullivan with Helen Geoghan, and Bart McHugh. Mark Damon with pretty blonde Susan Oliver on his arm came over to talk to us. Frankie Avalon and Jimmie Rodgers represented the teen-agers. At the late show Tony Bennett, Dolores Hart, Bobby Darin and Jule Styne who wants Tommy for his Broadway play "Saturday Night".

Tommy was a little nervous in the beginning, but he soon felt right at home and he was so happy to see his friends from the Coast.

Later at the Stork Club I saw Connie Bennett and her good-looking husband, Col. John Coulter. Connie is doing "Auntie Mame" on the road and looks amazingly well. William Gargan, Nancy Kelly and Lee Bowman were among others at the Stork.

Sherman Billingsley is writing the story of the Stork Club which celebrates its 25th anniversary this year. It was very entertaining when he told us some of the experiences which will go into the book.

Summer Fruits Among Week's Buys

If you have been waiting for your favorite summer, fresh fruits to appear on the markets you will find many of them in the week's economies, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

The season for fresh blueberries is just beginning. The big giant, cultivated berries are coming from North Carolina and New Jersey. It took years of scientific effort and testing and selecting before the true blueberry, which we know today, was perfected. Packed in pint boxes, at the growing area, and hurried to market, blueberries arrive with plump, powdery blue appearance that is eye appealing. Blueberries keep longer than other fresh berries and can be kept in the boxes in which they come, up to about a week in the refrigerator. Wash these berries just before using them. Serve them with cream, on cereals, in salads, fruit cups, muffins, pies and shortcakes. Blueberries are the best buy in berries.

Strawberry season is ending, and marketings are light. There are raspberries, both black and red and a few blackberries but these are in the moderate to higher price bracket.

Fresh peaches are another of the best-buys. The supply of peaches is currently coming from Georgia and South Carolina. Quality is generally very good and prices attractive. Be sure to select peaches that are ripe for eating immediately. Look for full ground color combined with a deep blushed cheek for indications of ripened fruit. Yellow fleshed peaches are a good source of vitamin A, perhaps a little better than white fleshed peaches. Most of the peaches available are hydro-cooled and ship well retaining orchard fresh qualities. From breakfast through dinner and for between meal snacks, peaches are a delight.

If you count the cantaloupes among your favorite fruits you will be pleased to know that cantaloupes are now arriving from California and Arizona and that this years crop promises to be a big one with lots of high quality melons.

To be sure you get a good melon look for one that has a slightly sunken, smooth, well calloused scar at the stem end. Also, choose fragrant melons with coarse, dry, greyish netting that stands in bold relief. Do not depend solely on a softening of the stem end of the melon for too many "pinchers" may have shopped before you, thus softening up unripened fruit. Cantaloupes are on the best-buy list this week.

At the vegetable counter the best-buys are green snap beans and onions. The Eastern Shore of Maryland is supplying the market with the major portion of the green beans. Fresh green beans that are stringless and snap when broken are attractively priced and very good in quality. The new crop of onions has reached the market, lowering the price. These onions along with the locally grown green spring onions should offer a great deal of flavor for good eating at low cost.

The egg situation remains the same. The supply is abundant and prices are very low. With picnic and salad season here, remember that hard cooked eggs are favorites. The easiest way to prepare, carry and keep eggs for outing menus is in the shell. Use eggs for health and economy.

At the meat counter recommended best-buys are chicken and fresh pork shoulder.

Fresh Blueberry, Pineapple And Marshmallow Dessert

1½ cups fresh pineapple wedges
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
12 marshmallows, cut into pieces
2 cups fresh blueberries
Sprigs of fresh mint for garnish

Combine fresh pineapple, sugar, lemon juice and marshmallows. Chill for at least one hour. Add chilled fresh blueberries just before serving. Pile in sherbet glasses. Garnish with sprigs of fresh mint. Yield: six servings.

Co-ordinated Colors

Even if there is a pumpkin colored suit that has caught your eye in your favorite shop's window, don't buy it—unless it fits in with the carefully co-ordinated plan you have already worked out for your next season's wardrobe. Such haphazard, spur-of-the-moment buying is what depletes a budget and makes it impossible to attain a beautiful all-occasion wardrobe.

To start your plan, list the last year's clothes that you intend to wear again this season. Then fill in your prospective purchases. And most important, be sure that the color plan of your new purchases dovetails with that of last year.

The properly color co-ordinated wardrobe is based on two simple rules:

1. Any clothes worn together must contain the same underlying tone, either blue or yellow. After a little study you will find that all but the rare, pure colors are tinged with blue or with yellow. Wine shades, for example, have a blue underlying tone, and if your last year's coat is wine, you can see at a glance that pumpkin suit to wear with it would be a total loss. A clear, sharp, blue-green such as emerald would do very well, however.

2. The other rule to keep in mind is that for maximum contrast, combine a brilliant or light color with a dark one; for a more subtle but far less dramatic effect, combine two darks. In the case of the wine coat, emerald is a brilliant contrast. A blue-mauve would be a light one. Navy blue would be a suitable dark.

Next, to insure the long-term usefulness of your wardrobe, make sure that you choose colors that authoritatively follow the fashion trend.

The yellow-tinged shades are those that make you think of frost-touched autumn leaves — the shades you see in turning maples and oaks: tawny yellow, fiery orange, hazy russets, golden reds, shimmering copper, lustrous bronzes and bronzy greens.

On the blue side, there is a strong trend toward grape into wine, and mauve into the plum shades. Rich blue-greens are putting in their bid for fashion prominence, too.

And there is a group of clear, bright colors that are so true that they have little undertone and can be mix-mated with little concern. You'll find them in the ranges of royal, purple, red and green.

Add to these such neutral-acting shades as charcoal, navy, woody brown and beige and you'll have the whole color story.

All you need do now is take the old, choose the new and combine them handsomely to achieve a co-ordinated, all occasion wardrobe!

Line co-ordination is the next important step in your wardrobe planning. "What's Your Line?", my handy guide to this angle of your plan, is yours for the asking—just send 5c and a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Summer Fruits Among Week's Buys

If you have been waiting for your favorite summer, fresh fruits to appear on the markets you will find many of them in the week's economies, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

The season for fresh blueberries is just beginning. The big giant, cultivated berries are coming from North Carolina and New Jersey. It took years of scientific effort and testing and selecting before the true blueberry, which we know today, was perfected. Packed in pint boxes, at the growing area, and hurried to market, blueberries arrive with plump, powdery blue appearance that is eye appealing. Blueberries keep longer than other fresh berries and can be kept in the boxes in which they come, up to about a week in the refrigerator. Wash these berries just before using them. Serve them with cream, on cereals, in salads, fruit cups, muffins, pies and shortcakes. Blueberries are the best buy in berries.

Strawberry season is ending, and marketings are light. There are raspberries, both black and red and a few blackberries but these are in the moderate to higher price bracket.

Fresh peaches are another of the best-buys. The supply of peaches is currently coming from Georgia and South Carolina. Quality is generally very good and prices attractive. Be sure to select peaches that are ripe for eating immediately. Look for full ground color combined with a deep blushed cheek for indications of ripened fruit. Yellow fleshed peaches are a good source of vitamin A, perhaps a little better than white fleshed peaches. Most of the peaches available are hydro-cooled and ship well retaining orchard fresh qualities. From breakfast through dinner and for between meal snacks, peaches are a delight.

If you count the cantaloupes among your favorite fruits you will be pleased to know that cantaloupes are now arriving from California and Arizona and that this years crop promises to be a big one with lots of high quality melons.

To be sure you get a good melon look for one that has a slightly sunken, smooth, well caloused scar at the stem end. Also, choose fragrant melons with coarse, dry, greyish netting that stands in bold relief. Do not depend solely on a softening of the stem end of the melon for too many "pinchers" may have shopped before you, thus softening up unripened fruit. Cantaloupes are on the best-buy list this week.

At the vegetable counter the best-buys are green snap beans and onions. The Eastern Shore of Maryland is supplying the market with the major portion of the green beans. Fresh green beans that are stringless and snap when broken are attractively priced and very good in quality. The new crop of onions has reached the market, lowering the price. These onions along with the locally grown green spring onions should offer a great deal of flavor for good eating at low cost.

The egg situation remains the same. The supply is abundant and prices are very low. With picnic and salad season here, remember that hard cooked eggs are favorites. The easiest way to prepare, carry and keep eggs for outing menus is in the shell. Use eggs for health and economy.

At the meat counter recommended best-buys are chicken and fresh pork shoulder.

Fresh Blueberry, Pineapple And Marshmallow Dessert

1½ cups fresh pineapple wedges
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
12 marshmallows, cut into pieces
2 cups fresh blueberries
Sprigs of fresh mint for garnish

The Queen And The Seaway

When Queen Elizabeth II welcomes President Eisenhower aboard the royal yacht Britannia at the St. Lambert Lock of the St. Lawrence Seaway today, she will act as Queen of Canada. For all that she is Elizabeth II, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, and Northern Ireland, and of her other realms and territories Queen; Head of the Commonwealth and Defender of the Faith—in the style recommended by Debrett's—she is also the constitutional monarch of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa.

Although the attitude over here seems to be that the Queen is making the trip primarily to dedicate the St. Lawrence Seaway, in Britain this ceremony is looked upon as incidental to the "Canadian visit."

For us of the United States it is significant that the two glimpses we shall have had of the Queen will have been at international ceremonies, both marking a historic step forward in cooperation across the border. The past few years have been filled with more than their share of rows with our neighbors to the North, principally over wheat and dollars. But accommodations are being made, and in any event, the squabbles, bitter as they occasionally became, were never serious enough to give rise to the slightest doubt of hemispheric solidarity on defense or of cooperation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Indeed, a sort of historical footnote shows the U.S.-Canadian friendship in its clearest image. Gunboats are cruising the peaceful waters of the Great Lakes for the St. Lawrence celebration only because diplomats were able to work out a temporary suspension of the Rush-Bagot Convention of 1817, which provided for the perpetual disarmament of the lakes.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Exit A Good Man

The Strauss controversy is not dead and will not cease to be a political issue until after the 1960 election. It is easy talking for Senators Lyndon Johnson and Everett Dirksen to say that they will bury that hatchet. But they have buried it in the neck of a human being. It may even lead to a Constitutional Amendment giving the President the authority to choose his own Cabinet without "the advice and consent of the Senate." By a parliamentary trick, Lewis L. Strauss was rejected as Secretary of Commerce of the United States. It was a soul-searing experience and while the vote was 49-46 and the proceedings were strictly partisan, nevertheless a human being, who has served his country well, has been rejected and humiliated.

For any man, this is a tough deal. It will hurt forever.

The question is: Does Lewis L. Strauss deserve such treatment? Is he a thief? Has he accepted bribes? Has he ever harmed his country? Is he a wicked man?

No one, except possibly Senator Wayne Morse, has ever questioned Lewis Strauss' integrity and to be insulted by Senator Wayne Morse is not altogether an unhappy occurrence. It may even help a man in his political relationships.

What then is Lewis L. Strauss' crime? Let me list some of the accusations against him:

1. He is haughty in manner.
2. He has withheld information concerning atomic energy from committees of Congress.
3. He has followed President Eisenhower's program in the Dixon-Yates matter, seeking to save the United States from socialistic power programs.
4. He has refused to consent to Senator Clinton Anderson's program to enter upon a wasteful and costly atomic public power program for which there is no necessity in this country.
5. He has been a banker.
6. He brought about the dismissal of Robert Oppenheimer from the Atomic Energy Commission after Oppenheimer gave testimony to establish that he had lied and that he had paid dues to the Communist Party.
7. He has prevented the shipment of American goods to Soviet Russia.

For these felonies and misdemeanors, the Democratic Party in the United States Senate opposed his confirmation as Secretary of Commerce. For these reasons, he was humiliated and rejected.

It is not astonishing that Senator Wayne Morse and Senator Clinton Anderson opposed Strauss. It is astonishing that Senator Lyndon Johnson, a man of foresight and political know-how, resorted to a political stratagem to force a vote on the Strauss matter when several Republicans, who would have voted for Strauss, were away from Washington. Some of them rushed back, just in time to vote. All he needed was two more votes for a narrow confirmation. On such small margins are great issues decided. Had he been confirmed in this manner, he would undoubtedly have declined to serve as Clare Luce had.

I have known Strauss well for about a quarter of a century. I first met him in the company of Herbert Hoover. He had been Hoover's secretary and friend since 1917. He had been associated with Hoover in all his relief enterprises. He had thus had a vast experience in administration and in humanitarian endeavor. When President Truman appointed Lewis Strauss to the Atomic Energy Commission, it was because of this experience and because Strauss had made himself a master of atomic science and had had close relations with the Princeton Group, including Albert Einstein. Also he had set up a foundation in honor of his father and mother to provide awards for scientists.

Strauss may go back to banking or may devote himself to public service but this is certain: He will not be sore. He is not that kind of a man. He will accept it that when one enters politics, one must be prepared for anything.

On the other hand, when the game is played in this manner, how is it possible to mobilize the brains and character of this nation for public service? Who needs to go through the ordeal of Clare Luce or of Lewis Strauss? There are other things to do. There are places to work where one's services are appreciated and where one is not humiliated by politicians who cater to pressure groups. Nevertheless, anyone judging the calibre of American officialdom comes to the sad realization that the best minds of the country do not go into government.

Herbert Hoover Deserves Chief Credit For St. Lawrence Seaway

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A lot of people are taking credit for the St. St. Lawrence Seaway, as it officially links the Atlantic Ocean with the Great Lakes. But the man who probably deserves the greatest credit will not be present.

He will be in semi-seclusion in the Waldorf Tower in New York—Herbert Hoover.

It was Hoover who served with such imagination and vigor as Secretary of Commerce during the Coolidge administration that he became President of the United States. Those were the days when the job of Secretary of Commerce was not considered a routine obligation to kowtow to big business. Hoover built up the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, pushed the idea of connecting the Atlantic seaboard with the Great Lakes cities, and even proposed repairing the eroding lip of Niagara Falls.

Later when he tried to put across the St. Lawrence Seaway as President he failed—as did Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman who followed him. They all failed because of opposition from the railroads and shipping interests along the Atlantic seaboard.

And the man who next to Hoover deserves credit for the St. Lawrence Seaway is George Humphrey, recently retired Secretary of the Treasury who once bitterly opposed the Seaway as "a socialistic ditch," but who became its champion under Eisenhower. Reason for the switch: Humphrey's M. A. Hanna Company had secured valuable ore concessions in Labrador and needed to open a water route through the Great Lakes. Having skimmed the cream of Minnesota's iron ore, Humphrey's National Steel Company and other steel interests had to get new ore supplies from Labrador or else starve.

So almost overnight big steel went to bat for the St. Lawrence Seaway. George Bender, who as GOP Senator from Ohio played ball with Humphrey, complained, as he switched his position from opposing to approving the Seaway: "I wish George Humphrey would give us a little more advance notice."

Note—Some Senators who voted to confirm Adm. Lewis Strauss justified their approval with the argument that the Commerce Department post was not important anyway. Actually, however, the Commerce Department has offered great opportunity for stimulating the American system of free enterprise.

Nixon And Khrushchev

Minnesota's busy, bouncy Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who predicted the breakdown in the Geneva talks, believes that Soviet Premier Khrushchev may get the preparations for a summit meeting back on the track when Vice President Nixon comes to Moscow next month.

Humphrey tipped off the Central Intelligence Agency, which sought his advice on what kind of reception Nixon could expect, that Khrushchev will probably give him the red-carpet treatment. Recalling his own eight-hour visit in the Kremlin, Humphrey pointed out that the Soviet dictator twice went out of his way to praise Nixon.

The Senator predicted Khrushchev would make dramatic concessions to Nixon, paving the way for a summit conference.

California Waterway

While Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower are commemorating the St. Lawrence Seaway, a less highlighted but equally dramatic future waterway is being officially okayed after 40 years of battling in California.

It's a man-made river which will run down the middle of the state of California for a distance almost equal to that between Chicago and New Orleans, or from Paris past Berlin well into Poland. It will be longer than any of the man-made waterways in the new St. Lawrence Seaway.

Chiefly responsible for getting approval of the $2 billion California waterway is Pat Brown, first Democratic governor to be elected in California for 40 years, who has finally succeeded in reconciling the 40-year feud between well-watered northern California and arid southern California.

For almost half a century northern California, which has ample water tumbling down from the snow-capped Sierras and going to waste in the sea, has balked at plans to divert water to southern California where the sprinkling of lawns is frequently prohibited in the summer. The Federal government under FDR and Harold Ickes put across the great Central Valley project in California; but since then both Governors Earl Warren and Goodwin Knight have been trying to get northern and southern California to reconcile their bitter stalemate—without success.

A few days ago, however, Governor Brown persuaded the California Legislature to bury the hatchet in California's water wars and pass a $2 billion state water project. It will provide almost twice the water delivered by the Central Valley project and generate 50 per cent more power than the Central Valley and the Trinity River projects.

The new waterway will also permit an increase of 5,200,000 in California's population.

Without any fanfare Governor Brown put across the California waterway during his first five months in office.

Headlines And Footnotes

Time magazine has started hostile investigations of the 11 Senators who voted against publisher Henry Luce's wife, Clare Boothe, as Ambassador to Brazil . . . General Curtis LeMay, the Air Force's gruff vice chief, told reservists to their face the other day that they would be useless in case of war because they would never be ready in time. "Reserve officers are good only for answering telephones," he snorted. "The whole shooting match would be over in 30 days." . . . The whittled-down housing bill was the work of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson who pulled the economy strings inside the Senate-House conference . . . While the Eisenhower administration is trying to raise interest rates on GI home loans veterans can't get settlements on their home purchases. The banks are delaying the contracts until the interest goes up . . . Metropolitan Opera star Richard Tucker and Francis Cardinal Spellman, meeting at New York's LaGuardia Airport the other day, swapped favors. The Cardinal agreed to arrange an audience with the Pope for the Jewish singer this summer in return for the first pressing of his latest recording.

Why China Wouldn't Welcome Harriman's Visit

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Why has the government of Red China just refused a visa to former New York Governor Harriman to enter that country as a news correspondent? Certainly a visit by so distinguished a personality would have produced writings that would have attracted worldwide attention. The only conclusion that can be reached is that the Communists are afraid of the truth. They cannot afford to have widespread publicity given to their economic failures.

Authoritative information on the true situation inside Red China has been leaking out lately. Perhaps the most significant report comes from former Senator Alexander H. Smith of New Jersey, who recently completed a visit to various Asian countries as a special consultant to the Secretary of State. He writes in a personal report to the State Department:

"Our stop in Hong Kong enroute to Formosa was most fruitful in giving us an objective picture of mainland China. We maintain a consulate general in Hong Kong with a large well-trained staff which acts as a listening post reflecting the internal Chinese situation. When we arrived there our new consul general, Mr. John Steeves, had not yet arrived, but we were well taken care of by Mr. Thomas Dillon, the acting consul general.

"My principal observations from the objective Hong Kong standpoint after talking both to members of our staff and with the governor general are that, so far as our people are concerned, they were unanimous in their feeling that our recognition of Communist China at this time would have an unfortunate impact on free Asia and anti-Communist Chinese. Most of the smaller countries in Southeast Asia are looking to U. S. leadership with regard to Communist recognition. They are aware that after nine years of recognition the British even today are not permitted to have an Ambassador on the China Mainland. Furthermore, if we recognized Red China, their terms of recognition would include requiring us to get out of Taiwan and out of the Pacific entirely. In the judgment of our staff, trade with Red China would really be a myth because the Communists are definitely oriented to trading with other members of the Communist bloc and they only trade with the Western nations when it suits their political purpose to do so. Their program is to increase their own economic potential and this is done at the sacrifice and cost of the individual 'slaves' of the ruthless Communist control.

"Our staff people feel that the claims of the Chinese Communists of a real economic 'leap forward' are very much overrated. The stepped-up economic drive and the establishment of the new drastic commune system are simply attempts to get the people to work harder for the benefit of the Communist objectives, and not to raise living standards. Their claims of increased economic and agricultural production are vastly inflated. They claim a labor shortage but this is due to the fact that they are using the masses by compulsory slave driving. Our staff feels that the people are made to work so hard that a backfire may ultimately set in. In spite of these difficulties, however, substantial economic progress may be expected."

Senator Smith comments also on the sensational effects of the revolution in Tibet on Asian peoples. He adds:

"Certainly the events during the last year have justified the Eisenhower-Dulles policy of non-recognition of Red China and of opposing the entry of Red China in the United Nations. Furthermore, these events have justified the United States position in supporting the Nationalist government and in making clear our attitude with regard to the defense of Formosa and the offshore islands . . . .

"Our long-range policy looking forward to permanent world peace must be a policy in support of an ultimately free China — the key to a free Asia. As I have stated before, this does not suggest war as a means to accomplish these objectives. But with the passing events, the people of the mainland of China are beginning to see the hideous threat of Communism and the danger of the domination of Asia and the world by Communism. There is evidence that their traditions and cultures and their spiritual inheritance are turning their minds toward the free world—and, in time, and without a shooting war, we may see them once more lined up with the forces of freedom."

In recent weeks, Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Democrat, has been speaking out severely both on the Senate floor and in speeches over what he considers unfair tactics by his Republican opposition.

Johnson's principal target has been House minority leader Charles A. Halleck (R), Indiana, who has been using the White House steps as a forum to attack the Democratic spenders.

The Republican Congressional leaders confer with President Eisenhower each week. Johnson charges that when they leave the White House Halleck sounds off against the Democrats instead of telling reporters what went on in the meetings.

Behind Johnson's complaint is an implied threat of a really serious break between Congress and the administration. What Johnson seems to be saying is: "Stop these attacks on us or we will fight back with no holds barred."

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, got the point the other day during an impatient outburst on the floor by Johnson. Dirksen took great pains to explain that he was not a participant in the sniping.

However, as Congress approaches the crucial final period of this session, short tempers could have a serious effect on the shape of vital legislation which is still pending.

There is enormous public interest in a baby-faced personality known as Jack Paar. No matter where I travel, big city or small town, people ask me about him. Apparently no one knows that I have written nine books and 30 years of newspaper stories. People point at me and say: "We saw you on the Paar show. What's he like?"

On a train, it's the Pullman conductor. On a story, it's a lawyer. At Tallahassee, it was a whole group of big burly State Highway Police and some Deputy Sheriffs. "Tell that guy he's great. He keeps us up all night." In magazines, he's on the cover.

Sooner or later, most people ask: "What's he like? Really." What he's like, really, is us. I've been on his program seven times and I once wrote a series of articles on Mr. P. He has no twitches, he doesn't use drugs, doesn't drink to excess, he loves his wife Miriam, spoils his daughter Randy, is a sucker for anyone who's been hurt, is as sensitive as an old maid at a wedding, has little knowledge of current affairs, is always looking for the pea under the walnut.

He owns a nice modern house in Bronxville. The driveway slopes down from the street and there is a swimming pool in back. Jack Paar cleans it. He has a lot of sound equipment, and sound movies, in a downstairs den. The living room, upstairs, has a big stone fireplace.

Mr. P's office is on one side of the house. His wife, who is attractive and brown-haired, is his business manager and she has an office on the other side of the house. There is a housekeeper who makes steak and eggs for his breakfast.

Jack is basically shy. He wants to be recognized. He is not an entertainer. He cannot sing well, do a dance or play the piano. He is a catalyst for entertainers and, ironically, he is the envy of the stars he invites to his program. When he takes a week off—which is often—the show sounds like amateur night at the Bijou. The same faces are present; the same repartee; the same songs, but without Paar's little boy wonderment in the presence of the stars, they are nothing. The show is nothing.

He has his weaknesses. The greatest is his sensitivity.

In Havana, a woman caught him at breakfast in a restaurant and she thought that she would tweak him a little. She was wrong. I heard him say: "Get away from me. Leave me alone." She left. he hasn't the nerve to fire old friends who work for him so, when they have outlived their usefulness to the program, he spreads the word to others that he is displeased.

This gets to the victim by way of the bleachers, and the old man must sit and wait for the axe. Success is a pleasant anaesthetic, especially after one has tasted so frequently of failure. The men he discharges rap him when they leave.

The higher the success, the more one tends to lose his balance. In most fields, success comes in two stages; one is getting there; the other is staying there. Mr. Paar is trying to make stage two. He needs people of talent around him to do it. His feet skid on the small stones of betrayal and he digs deeper to stay on top.

I was his fan long before I met him. The more I see of Jack, the better I like him. Like Jack Webb and Ed Sullivan, he must be his own producer and his own director as well as his own star because what he is selling is himself, and no one knows how to do that as well as Jack Paar.

Before the show, he usually broods and sulks. He sits alone in a small dressing room, making himself up out of a fancy briefcase, looking at jokes and other material which he throws into a basket. He is always certain that this particular show is going to fall flat.

It doesn't. All the show needs to put it over is Paar grinning at the people, cracking weak jokes, an assortment of women on a couch trying to draw their skirts over their knees, and Jose Melis and his boys hidden in a nearby telephone booth. It doesn't need anything else. No one has to be extraordinarily bright or witty.

The effect is electrifying. Scores of millions of people hang on his every I-kid-you-not. If he says something nice about an old star, the star is reborn. If Jack likes a book, it hits the best seller list. If he likes a song, it's in.

What's Jack Paar like? That's what he's like. . .

Things To Avoid If You Have Hypertension

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is no way to prevent the most common type of hypertension in persons destined to get the disease. We are likely to blame stress, overwork, too much salt, and overweight. But these factors are not causative; they simply aggravate the condition once it develops.

The candidate for hypertension usually has hereditary and physical characteristics that make his blood pressure rise. Many are alert, restless, hard driving individuals. They may be more sensitive than the average person to the stress and strain of ordinary living. Whether these intangibles that elevate the blood pressure are the same driving force that makes the victim work harder is a moot question. We have no proof because we cannot alter factors over which we have no control.

There is some evidence that salt may contribute to the development of hypertension, but most authorities are skeptical of the evidence. Yet the majority agree that after the pressure goes up, salt makes it worse. This explains why a low salt diet is included in the plan of treatment. We know also that the beneficial effects of the latest blood pressure remedy—Diuril—stem from its ability to eliminate salt from the body.

If stress were wholly responsible, most of us would have high blood pressure. Ordinary stress is hard to avoid and this applies to the civilized man as well as the natives in the jungle.

Obesity enters the picture because the blood pressure may go down when weight is lost. This does not mean that the original weight was responsible for the elevation in blood pressure. It may be a mechanical factor because it is difficult to get a true reading on an arm well padded with fat.

With weight loss, the limb becomes thinner and the blood pressure reading changes. In addition, many overweight individuals use less salt when on a reducing regimen. The lesson to be learned is that anyone with a tendency toward hypertension should avoid salt and obesity and minimize stress and strain in daily living.

KIDNEY REMOVAL

C. R. writes: Are there any special do's and don't's after removal of a kidney?

REPLY

No, except to maintain good health by avoding infections and being moderate in all things. If the kidney was removed because of stones, ask your physician about the proper diet which may discourage the formation of more stones in the other kidney.

BOY NEEDS HELP

Mrs. G. writes: A 15-year-old boy who has good grades in school develops headaches and is very nervous. He often falls on getting up from lying down. The doctor says the trouble is "all in his head" but I wonder if some physical trouble could be responsible?

REPLY

Yes, such as changes in blood pressure on arising or a disorder of the nervous system. I assume your physician is treating him actively for this condition that is "all in his head." If not, a consultation is in order. After all, an emotional disorder can be just as disabling as an organic disorder.

THE INNERMO T PART

A. R. writes: Please explain inner ear trouble.

REPLY

The inner ear contains the nerve elements and consists of the labyrinth, the semicircular canals, and the auditory nerves. Disturbances in these parts usually are associated with dizziness and nerve deafness.

WHITE SPOTS

R. Y. writes: Can white spots on the face be tattoed a flesh color successfully?

REPLY

This is an idea but I never have known it to be done. Much depends upon the size of the colorless areas and the skill of the tattoo artist. Good cosmetic tattoo operators are difficult to find. The man who can make a good flag, anchor, or ship on an arm or chest does not necessarily have the ability to do cosmetic work. If it were possible to color the white patches, the project would not be too successful because in the summertime the depigmented areas would still be lighter than the rest of the skin.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

When Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's daughter was three years old, she contracted a slight illness. Longfellow, concerned about her, swept her up in his arms and took her into the garden for a breath of air.

The child smiled up at him, and Longfellow, hoping to lull her into a restful sleep, tried to think of some jingle to recite for her. Into his head came the lines:

"There was a little girl
Who had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead;
And when she was good
She was very, very good
But when she was bad she was horrid."

Nobody was more astonished than Longfellow when this verse became more popular than all his serious writings put together!

Couple of kids were in the kitchen banging lustily on the pots and pans, looking apprehensively at the doorway. "Wish mom would hurry up and make us stop," confided one of them. "This noise is killing me."

The Queen And The Seaway

When Queen Elizabeth II welcomes President Eisenhower aboard the royal yacht Britannia at the St. Lambert Lock of the St. Lawrence Seaway today, she will act as Queen of Canada. For all that she is Elizabeth II, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, and Northern Ireland, and of her other realms and territories Queen; Head of the Commonwealth and Defender of the Faith—in the style recommended by Debrett's—she is also the constitutional monarch of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa.

Although the attitude over here seems to be that the Queen is making the trip primarily to dedicate the St. Lawrence Seaway, in Britain this ceremony is looked upon as incidental to the "Canadian visit."

For us of the United States it is significant that the two glimpses we shall have had of the Queen will have been at international ceremonies, both marking a historic step forward in cooperation across the border. The past few years have been filled with more than their share of rows with our neighbors to the North, principally over wheat and dollars. But accommodations are being made, and in any event, the squabbles, bitter as they occasionally became, were never serious enough to give rise to the slightest doubt of hemispheric solidarity on defense or of cooperation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Indeed, a sort of historical footnote shows the U.S.-Canadian friendship in its clearest image. Gunboats are cruising the peaceful waters of the Great Lakes for the St. Lawrence celebration only because diplomats were able to work out a temporary suspension of the Rush-Bagot Convention of 1817, which provided for the perpetual disarmament of the lakes.

These Days

Exit A Good Man

The Strauss controversy is not dead and will not cease to be a political issue until after the 1960 election. It is easy talking for Senators Lyndon Johnson and Everett Dirksen to say that they will bury that hatchet. But they have buried it in the neck of a human being. It may even lead to a Constitutional Amendment giving the President the authority to choose his own Cabinet without "the advice and consent of the Senate." By a parliamentary trick, Lewis L. Strauss was rejected as Secretary of Commerce of the United States. It was a soul-searing experience and while the vote was 49-46 and the proceedings were strictly partisan, nevertheless a human being, who has served his country well, has been rejected and humiliated.

For any man, this is a tough deal. It will hurt forever.

The question is: Does Lewis L. Strauss deserve such treatment? Is he a thief? Has he accepted bribes? Has he ever harmed his country? Is he a wicked man?

No one, except possibly Senator Wayne Morse, has ever questioned Lewis Strauss' integrity and to be insulted by Senator Wayne Morse is not altogether an unhappy occurrence. It may even help a man in his political relationships.

What then is Lewis L. Strauss' crime? Let me list some of the accusations against him:

1. He is haughty in manner.
2. He has withheld information concerning atomic energy from committees of Congress.
3. He has followed President Eisenhower's program in the Dixon-Yates matter, seeking to save the United States from socialistic power programs.
4. He has refused to consent to Senator Clinton Anderson's program to enter upon a wasteful and costly atomic public power program for which there is no necessity in this country.
5. He has been a banker.
6. He brought about the dismissal of Robert Oppenheimer from the Atomic Energy Commission after Oppenheimer gave testimony to establish that he had lied and that he had paid dues to the Communist Party.
7. He has prevented the shipment of American goods to Soviet Russia.

For these felonies and misdemeanors, the Democratic Party in the United States Senate opposed his confirmation as Secretary of Commerce. For these reasons, he was humiliated and rejected.

It is not astonishing that Senator Wayne Morse and Senator Clinton Anderson opposed Strauss. It is astonishing that Senator Lyndon Johnson, a man of foresight and political know-how, resorted to a political stratagem to force a vote on the Strauss matter when several Republicans, who would have voted for Strauss, were away from Washington. Some of them rushed back, just in time to vote. All he needed was two more votes for a narrow confirmation. On such small margins are great issues decided. Had he been confirmed in this manner, he would undoubtedly have declined to serve as Clare Luce had.

I have known Strauss well for about a quarter of a century. I first met him in the company of Herbert Hoover. He had been Hoover's secretary and friend since 1917. He had been associated with Hoover in all his relief enterprises. He had thus had a vast experience in administration and in humanitarian endeavor. When President Truman appointed Lewis Strauss to the Atomic Energy Commission, it was because of this experience and because Strauss had made himself a master of atomic science and had had close relations with the Princeton Group, including Albert Einstein. Also he had set up a foundation in honor of his father and mother to provide awards for scientists.

Strauss may go back to banking or may devote himself to public service but this is certain: He will not be sore. He is not that kind of a man. He will accept it that when one enters politics, one must be prepared for anything.

On the other hand, when the game is played in this manner, how is it possible to mobilize the brains and character of this nation for public service? Who needs to go through the ordeal of Clare Luce or of Lewis Strauss? There are other things to do. There are places to work where one's services are appreciated and where one is not humiliated by politicians who cater to pressure groups. Nevertheless, anyone judging the calibre of American officialdom comes to the sad realization that the best minds of the country do not go into government.

Herbert Hoover Deserves Chief Credit For St. Lawrence Seaway

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A lot of people are taking credit for the St. St. Lawrence Seaway, as it officially links the Atlantic Ocean with the Great Lakes. But the man who probably deserves the greatest credit will not be present.

He will be in semi-seclusion in the Waldorf Tower in New York—Herbert Hoover.

It was Hoover who served with such imagination and vigor as Secretary of Commerce during the Coolidge administration that he became President of the United States. Those were the days when the job of Secretary of Commerce was not considered a routine obligation to kowtow to big business. Hoover built up the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, pushed the idea of connecting the Atlantic seaboard with the Great Lakes cities, and even proposed repairing the eroding lip of Niagara Falls.

Later when he tried to put across the St. Lawrence Seaway as President he failed—as did Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman who followed him. They all failed because of opposition from the railroads and shipping interests along the Atlantic seaboard.

And the man who next to Hoover deserves credit for the St. Lawrence Seaway is George Humphrey, recently retired Secretary of the Treasury who once bitterly opposed the Seaway as "a socialistic ditch," but who became its champion under Eisenhower. Reason for the switch: Humphrey's M. A. Hanna Company had secured valuable ore concessions in Labrador and needed to open a water route through the Great Lakes. Having skimmed the cream of Minnesota's iron ore, Humphrey's National Steel Company and other steel interests had to get new ore supplies from Labrador or else starve.

So almost overnight big steel went to bat for the St. Lawrence Seaway. George Bender, who as GOP Senator from Ohio played ball with Humphrey, complained, as he switched his position from opposing to approving the Seaway: "I wish George Humphrey would give us a little more advance notice."

Note—Some Senators who voted to confirm Adm. Lewis Strauss justified their approval with the argument that the Commerce Department post was not important anyway. Actually, however, the Commerce Department has offered great opportunity for stimulating the American system of free enterprise.

Nixon And Khrushchev

Minnesota's busy, bouncy Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who predicted the breakdown in the Geneva talks, believes that Soviet Premier Khrushchev may get the preparations for a summit meeting back on the track when Vice President Nixon comes to Moscow next month.

Humphrey tipped off the Central Intelligence Agency, which sought his advice on what kind of reception Nixon could expect, that Khrushchev will probably give him the red-carpet treatment. Recalling his own eight-hour visit in the Kremlin, Humphrey pointed out that the Soviet dictator twice went out of his way to praise Nixon.

The Senator predicted Khrushchev would make dramatic concessions to Nixon, paving the way for a summit conference.

California Waterway

While Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower are commemorating the St. Lawrence Seaway, a less highlighted but equally dramatic future waterway is being officially okayed after 40 years of battling in California.

It's a man-made river which will run down the middle of the state of California for a distance almost equal to that between Chicago and New Orleans, or from Paris past Berlin well into Poland. It will be longer than any of the man-made waterways in the new St. Lawrence Seaway.

Chiefly responsible for getting approval of the $2 billion California waterway is Pat Brown, first Democratic governor to be elected in California for 40 years, who has finally succeeded in reconciling the 40-year feud between well-watered northern California and arid southern California.

For almost half a century northern California, which has ample water tumbling down from the snow-capped Sierras and going to waste in the sea, has balked at plans to divert water to southern California where the sprinkling of lawns is frequently prohibited in the summer. The Federal government under FDR and Harold Ickes put across the great Central Valley project in California; but since then both Governors Earl Warren and Goodwin Knight have been trying to get northern and southern California to reconcile their bitter stalemate—without success.

A few days ago, however, Governor Brown persuaded the California Legislature to bury the hatchet in California's water wars and pass a $2 billion state water project. It will provide almost twice the water delivered by the Central Valley project and generate 50 per cent more power than the Central Valley and the Trinity River projects.

The new waterway will also permit an increase of 5,200,000 in California's population.

Without any fanfare Governor Brown put across the California waterway during his first five months in office.

Headlines And Footnotes

Time magazine has started hostile investigations of the 11 Senators who voted against publisher Henry Luce's wife, Clare Boothe, as Ambassador to Brazil . . . General Curtis LeMay, the Air Force's gruff vice chief, told reservists to their face the other day that they would be useless in case of war because they would never be ready in time. "Reserve officers are good only for answering telephones," he snorted. "The whole shooting match would be over in 30 days." . . . The whittled-down housing bill was the work of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson who pulled the economy strings inside the Senate-House conference . . . While the Eisenhower administration is trying to raise interest rates on GI home loans veterans can't get settlements on their home purchases. The banks are delaying the contracts until the interest goes up . . . Metropolitan Opera star Richard Tucker and Francis Cardinal Spellman, meeting at New York's LaGuardia Airport the other day, swapped favors. The Cardinal agreed to arrange an audience with the Pope for the Jewish singer this summer in return for the first pressing of his latest recording.

Why China Wouldn't Welcome Harriman's Visit

He needs people of talent around him to do it. His feet skid on the small stones of betrayal and he digs deeper to stay on top.

I was his fan long before I met him. The more I see of Jack, the better I like him. Like Jack Webb and Ed Sullivan, he must be his own producer and his own director as well as his own star because what he is selling is himself, and no one knows how to do that as well as Jack Paar.

Before the show, he usually broods and sulks. He sits alone in a small dressing room, making himself up out of a fancy briefcase, looking at jokes and other material which he throws into a basket. He is always certain that this particular show is going to fall flat.

It doesn't. All the show needs to put it over is Paar grinning at the people, cracking weak jokes, an assortment of women on a couch trying to draw their skirts over their knees, and Jose Melis and his boys hidden in a nearby telephone booth. It doesn't need anything else. No one has to be extraordinarily bright or witty.

The effect is electrifying. Scores of millions of people hang on his every I-kid-you-not. If he says something nice about an old star, the star is reborn. If Jack likes a book, it hits the best seller list. If he likes a song, it's in.

What's Jack Paar like? That's what he's like. . .

Things To Avoid If You Have Hypertension

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is no way to prevent the most common type of hypertension in persons destined to get the disease. We are likely to blame stress, overwork, too much salt, and overweight. But these factors are not causative; they simply aggravate the condition once it develops.

The candidate for hypertension usually has hereditary and physical characteristics that make his blood pressure rise. Many are alert, restless, hard driving individuals. They may be more sensitive than the average person to the stress and strain of ordinary living. Whether these intangibles that elevate the blood pressure are the same driving force that makes the victim work harder is a moot question. We have no proof because we cannot alter factors over which we have no control.

There is some evidence that salt may contribute to the development of hypertension, but most authorities are skeptical of the evidence. Yet the majority agree that after the pressure goes up, salt makes it worse. This explains why a low salt diet is included in the plan of treatment. We know also that the beneficial effects of the latest blood pressure remedy—Diuril—stem from its ability to eliminate salt from the body.

If stress were wholly responsible, most of us would have high blood pressure. Ordinary stress is hard to avoid and this applies to the civilized man as well as the natives in the jungle.

Obesity enters the picture because the blood pressure may go down when weight is lost. This does not mean that the original weight was responsible for the elevation in blood pressure. It may be a mechanical factor because it is difficult to get a true reading on an arm well padded with fat.

With weight loss, the limb becomes thinner and the blood pressure reading changes. In addition, many overweight individuals use less salt when on a reducing regimen. The lesson to be learned is that anyone with a tendency toward hypertension should avoid salt and obesity and minimize stress and strain in daily living.

KIDNEY REMOVAL

C. R. writes: Are there any special do's and don't's after removal of a kidney?

REPLY

No, except to maintain good health by avoding infections and being moderate in all things. If the kidney was removed because of stones, ask your physician about the proper diet which may discourage the formation of more stones in the other kidney.

BOY NEEDS HELP

Mrs. G. writes: A 15-year-old boy who has good grades in school develops headaches and is very nervous. He often falls on getting up from lying down. The doctor says the trouble is "all in his head" but I wonder if some physical trouble could be responsible?

REPLY

Yes, such as changes in blood pressure on arising or a disorder of the nervous system. I assume your physician is treating him actively for this condition that is "all in his head." If not, a consultation is in order. After all, an emotional disorder can be just as disabling as an organic disorder.

THE INNERMO T PART

A. R. writes: Please explain inner ear trouble.

REPLY

The inner ear contains the nerve elements and consists of the labyrinth, the semicircular canals, and the auditory nerves. Disturbances in these parts usually are associated with dizziness and nerve deafness.

WHITE SPOTS

R. Y. writes: Can white spots on the face be tattoed a flesh color successfully?

REPLY

This is an idea but I never have known it to be done. Much depends upon the size of the colorless areas and the skill of the tattoo artist. Good cosmetic tattoo operators are difficult to find. The man who can make a good flag, anchor, or ship on an arm or chest does not necessarily have the ability to do cosmetic work. If it were possible to color the white patches, the project would not be too successful because in the summertime the depigmented areas would still be lighter than the rest of the skin.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

When Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's daughter was three years old, she contracted a slight illness. Longfellow, concerned about her, swept her up in his arms and took her into the garden for a breath of air.

The child smiled up at him, and Longfellow, hoping to lull her into a restful sleep, tried to think of some jingle to recite for her. Into his head came the lines:

"There was a little girl
Who had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead;
And when she was good
She was very, very good
But when she was bad she was horrid."

Nobody was more astonished than Longfellow when this verse became more popular than all his serious writings put together!

Couple of kids were in the kitchen banging lustily on the pots and pans, looking apprehensively at the doorway. "Wish mom would hurry up and make us stop," confided one of them. "This noise is killing me."

Pirates Win Over Giants In Twelfth

Mejias' Home Run Gives Roy Face 12th Victory, 3-1

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Outfielder Roman Mejias hit a two-run homer in the 12th inning Thursday, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-1 victory over San Francisco as Elroy Face notched his 12th triumph.

Mejias' homer — his fourth this season — came with Dick Schofield on first.

Victim of the 390-foot blast over the left field fence was right-hander Eddie Fisher. He beat the Pirates in the opener of the four-game series but found rough going in relief Thursday.

The Giants remain two games behind the National League pace of the Milwaukee Braves, who lost to St. Louis.

Face, who has won 17 straight since he was beaten on May 30, 1958, pitched three innings. He put the Giants down in order in the 10th and issued a walk in the 11th.

Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt singled in the 12th as the Giants threatened. Pinch-hitter Felipe Alou walked to fill the bases with two out. But Eddie Bressoud popped back to Face to end it.

Pirates Win Over Giants In Twelfth

Mejias' Home Run Gives Roy Face 12th Victory, 3-1

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Outfielder Roman Mejias hit a two-run homer in the 12th inning Thursday, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-1 victory over San Francisco as Elroy Face notched his 12th triumph.

Mejias' homer — his fourth this season — came with Dick Schofield on first.

Victim of the 390-foot blast over the left field fence was right-hander Eddie Fisher. He beat the Pirates in the opener of the four-game series but found rough going in relief Thursday.

The Giants remain two games behind the National League pace of the Milwaukee Braves, who lost to St. Louis.

Face, who has won 17 straight since he was beaten on May 30, 1958, pitched three innings. He put the Giants down in order in the 10th and issued a walk in the 11th.

Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt singled in the 12th as the Giants threatened. Pinch-hitter Felipe Alou walked to fill the bases with two out. But Eddie Bressoud popped back to Face to end it.

Mrs. Cush, Barbara Diggs Lead CCC Golf With 81s

Mesdames Singhass, Bibby Trail At 83 At Halfway Point

Washington players shared the lead in the opening round of the ninth annual Women's Invitation Golf Tournament at the Cumberland Country Club yesterday when Mrs. Frank Cush, of the Argyle Country Club, and Miss Barbara Diggs, of the Manor Country Club, paced a field of 56 players with eight-above-par 81s for the 18 holes.

Players from at least a dozen clubs of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, participated in the 36-hole test which will be concluded today.

William Bibby, of the host organization, and Mrs. Mary Ann Singhass, daughter of Johnny Musser, pro at the Allview Country Club, Baltimore, who tied for third place with scores of 83.

Deadlocked for fifth place, three strokes off the pace, were Miss Kathryn Diggs, sister of Miss Barbara Diggs, and Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, of the Cumberland Country Club, with 84s. Next on the list were Mrs. Richard Trevaskis and Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth, of the local club, with 88s.

Mrs. John McCusky, of Clarksburg, who won the first tourney here in 1951 with a 79 when it was an 18-hole affair, carded a 92 yesterday.

Players will begin teeing off for the final 18-holes today at 8:50 a. m.

Heavyweight Title Bout Is Rescheduled Tonight

Damp, Foggy Day Halts Patterson, Johansson Match

NEW YORK (AP)—The weatherman knocked out both Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson Thursday with a damp, foggy day. As a result, their world title boxing match at Yankee Stadium was postponed until Friday night.

The forecast for Friday is not promising. Another warm, humid day is predicted with a possibility of late afternoon and evening thundershowers.

Promoter Bill Rosensohn, whose production has been plagued by law suits, feuds with the champion's manager and uninspired workouts by the Swedish challenger, tried his best to take the postponement in stride.

"Who knows?" he said. "It might even help. I certainly would have sold very few seats today in the rain. If tomorrow comes up nice we might do a tremendous business. If I had to go today I would have been lucky to do $500,000."

In case of bad weather again Friday, it is not definite whether the fight would be set back again to Saturday or to Monday. "Both dates are clear at Yankee Stadium," said Rosensohn.

A Saturday bout would mean serious trouble for the closed circuit television people for Saturday is a big night for regular movies in the theaters they expect to use.

There will be no free home television but there will be a radio broadcast (ABC) of the 15-round match, scheduled for 9:30 p.m. (EST)

At Thursday's weigh-in, Johansson, smiling confidently, scaled 196 pounds and Patterson 182.

Olmedo Scores Over Krishnan At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Alex Olmedo, the hawk-faced favorite from Peru, Thursday defeated highly rated Ramanathan Krishnan of India in the match of the week and moved into the last 16 of the men's singles of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Top-seeded Olmedo knocked out 22-year-old Krishnan 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

MacKay Advances

Barry MacKay, Olmedo's 23-year-old American Davis Cup teammate from Dayton, Ohio, also advanced to the round of 16. MacKay, seeded fifth, gained a 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 victory over John Leschly, an 18-year-old Dane.

Earl Buchholz, the 18-year-old high school sensational from St. Louis, did not play Thursday. Buchholz, another Davis Cup player, is due to meet 45-year-old Gardnar Mulloy of Miami in the third round Friday.

Olmedo and seven Americans were involved in singles matches Thursday as the schedule was juggled to clean up rained-out matches from Wednesday and to start the doubles competition.

U.S. Women Score

Darlene Hard, from Montebello, Calif., and Sally Moore, the Bakersfield, Calif., 18-year-old, reached the last 16 of women's singles with third round victories.

Miss Hard defeated Mrs. Rosemary Deloford of Britain 6-0, 6-2. Miss Moore defeated Paula Courteix of France 6-4, 6-4.

In the second round, Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., beat Deidre Catt of Britain 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Karol Fageros, the Miami model, trounced Mrs. A. H. Thomas of Britain 6-2, 6-1.

Six of the eight seeded men still are in the tournament and four entered the fourth round Thursday. Second-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia trimmed Michael Hann of Britain 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 and his eighth-seeded countryman Roy Emerson beat Andres Gimeno of Spain 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Baltimorean Loses

Francona's 2nd Homer Beats Jack Fisher, 3-2

Orioles' Rookie, In Relief Role, Loses To Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tito Francona slammed two home runs Thursday, including an eighth-inning blast that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the league-leading Cleveland Indians a 3-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles. Francona also had a pair of singles.

The 25-year-old outfielder hit his initial homer into the right field seats and his game-winner into the left field stands. It was his third roundtripper in the last two games and only his sixth of the season.

Francona's second homer came off Jack Fisher who relieved starter Hoyt Wilhelm.

Mike Garcia who relieved Bobby Locke when the Orioles scored two runs to tie the game in the eighth, won his first decision after five losses this season.

Cards Jolt Braves, 3-2

Burdette Beaten, Aaron Belts 21st

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals pushed across three unearned runs to edge Milwaukee 3-2 Thursday as the Braves' defense collapsed to ruin Lew Burdette's bid for his 12th victory.

The Cardinals scored two unearned runs in the sixth inning after some sloppy fielding by second baseman Felix Mantilla, then tallied the winning marker following an error by right-fielder Hank Aaron.

Aaron, who accounted for both Milwaukee runs with his 21st home run of the season in the third inning, turned from hero to goat when he kicked around a single to right by Joe Cunningham in the seventh.

Cunningham reached second on the error and scored on Ken Boyer's weak grounder through the middle.

The Cardinals also were guilty of some poor fielding, committing three errors, but the Braves were unable to take advantage of the miscues.

Latman Hurls White Sox To 4-1 Triumph

Extra Base Blows Beat Pedro Ramos

CHICAGO (AP) — Barry Latman, 23-year-old rookie right-hander, posted his first victory of the season Thursday when he hurled the White Sox to a 4-1 victory over Washington.

Latman, who earned his first start since May 9 by pitching 18 consecutive scoreless innings in relief, held the Senators to five hits. Only run off him came in the fourth when Bob Allison tripled and Roy Sievers singled.

The White Sox also collected only five hits off loser Pedro Ramos (7-7) before Hal Woodeschick came on to hurl two perfect closing innings. However, three of them were extra base blows that figured in all the scoring.

Latman had started four games early in the season and was charged with two defeats.

Detroit Tops Red Sox, 10-5

Rocky Bridges Hits Grand Slam Homer

DETROIT (AP) — Little Rocky Bridges hit the first grand slam home run of his major league career Thursday and paced the Detroit Tigers to a 10-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak with their best hitting in almost a week.

Dick Gernert and Marty Keough hammered roundtrippers in the eighth and routed Bunning.

Round Table Is Winner Of Betless Race

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP) — Round Table, the all-time money-winning champion owned by Travis Kerr, added $1,000 to his bank account today. He galloped to a 10-length victory in a four-horse betless exhibition race at Washington Park.

The other three, hopelessly outclassed from the start, finished in this order behind Round Table: William H. Bishop's On The Job, Hasty House Farms' Martini 11, and Mrs. Frances A. Genter's Our Holiday.

Round Table, whose earnings total $1,397,939, used the exhibition as a prep for the $75,000 added Stars and Stripes Handicap on July 4. The distance of that race is 1⅛ miles on the grass.

Today's mile and 1/16th event on the grass carried a purse of $4,000 which was split equally among the owners of the four horses.

Extra Base Blows Beat Pedro Ramos

CHICAGO (AP) — Barry Latman, 23-year-old rookie right-hander, posted his first victory of the season Thursday when he hurled the White Sox to a 4-1 victory over Washington.

Latman, who earned his first start since May 9 by pitching 18 consecutive scoreless innings in relief, held the Senators to five hits. Only run off him came in the fourth when Bob Allison tripled and Roy Sievers singled.

The White Sox also collected only five hits off loser Pedro Ramos (7-7) before Hal Woodechick came on to hurl two perfect closing innings. However, three of them were extra base blows that figured in all the scoring.

Latman had started four games early in the season and was charged with two defeats.

Detroit Tops Red Sox, 10-5

Rocky Bridges Hits Grand Slam Homer

DETROIT (AP) — Little Rocky Bridges hit the first grand slam home run of his major league career Thursday and paced the Detroit Tigers to a 10-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak with their best hitting in almost a week.

Al Kaline slugged his 13th home run as relief pitcher Tom Morgan, who saved Jim Bunning's fourth straight triumph over Boston, hit one in the eighth. It was Morgan's second.

Dick Gernert and Marty Keough hammered roundtrippers in the eighth and routed Bunning.

Round Table Is Winner Of Betless Race

CHICAGO, June 25 (AP) — Round Table, the all-time money-winning champion owned by Travis Kerr, added $1,000 to his bank account today. He galloped to a 10-length victory in a four-horse betless exhibition race at Washington Park.

The other three, hopelessly outclassed from the start, finished in this order behind Round Table: William H. Bishop's On The Job, Hasty House Farms' Martini 11, and Mrs. Frances A. Genter's Our Holiday.

Round Table, whose earnings total $1,397,939, used the exhibition as a prep for the $75,000 added Stars and Stripes Handicap on July 4. The distance of that race is 1⅛ miles on the grass.

Today's mile and 1/16th event on the grass carried a purse of $4,000 which was split equally among the owners of the four horses.

Jehovah's Witnesses Protest Anti-Church Move In Argentina

LONACONING—The Lonaconing Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses have learned that Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina have been denied their constitutional rights of free assembly and worship. A vote of protest was taken here and plans discussed to petition the Argentine Republic to correct the restrictions laid on the Christian group's activities.

J. M. Morton, the local congregation's presiding minister, said that in spite of many liberal advancements made by the present Argentine government that ousted the dictatorial Peron regime, a few non-Catholic religious groups that were declared illegal by Peron have yet to be recognized by Argentina's constitutional president, Arturo Frondizi.

According to Mr. Morton, two different applications for recognition were denied by the "Ministry of Worship," a department of the gvoernment formed by Peron to control the registry of all non-Catholic religions in the country. Furthermore, two futile appeals have been made to the present government to rescind the order denying Jehovah's Witnesses the right to register. The latest appeal was made following a new decree signed by Frondizi on February 6, 1959, giving non-Catholic religions full right to worship God as guarnateed by Article 14 of the Argentine Constitution.

Mr. Morton said the more than 6,000 Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina began circulation of a petition addressed to the president of the Argentine Republic requesting recognition under the new, liberal provision of his government. The neighboring countries of Bolivia, Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay are circulating similar petitions to acquaint the people of those countries, as well as Frondizi, with the condition that exists in Argentina.

Jehovah's Witnesses Protest Anti-Church Move In Argentina

LONACONING—The Lonaconing Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses have learned that Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina have been denied their constitutional rights of free assembly and worship. A vote of protest was taken here and plans discussed to petition the Argentine Republic to correct the restrictions laid on the Christian group's activities.

J. M. Morton, the local congregation's presiding minister, said that in spite of many liberal advancements made by the present Argentine government that ousted the dictatorial Peron regime, a few non-Catholic religious groups that were declared illegal by Peron have yet to be recognized by Argentina's constitutional president, Arturo Frondizi.

According to Mr. Morton, two different applications for recognition were denied by the "Ministry of Worship," a department of the gvoernment formed by Peron to control the registry of all non-Catholic religions in the country. Furthermore, two futile appeals have been made to the present government to rescind the order denying Jehovah's Witnesses the right to register. The latest appeal was made following a new decree signed by Frondizi on February 6, 1959, giving non-Catholic religions full right to worship God as guarnateed by Article 14 of the Argentine Constitution.

Mr. Morton said the more than 6,000 Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina began circulation of a petition addressed to the president of the Argentine Republic requesting recognition under the new, liberal provision of his government. The neighboring countries of Bolivia, Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay are circulating similar petitions to acquaint the people of those countries, as well as Frondizi, with the condition that exists in Argentina.

Parker C. Black Keyser Hi School Principal Resigns

KEYSER — Parker C. Black, principal of Keyser High School for the past eight years, announces his resignation from that position, effective July 1, 1959. He will retire at an early time to his former home in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Mr. Black's decision was in a large part influenced by his serious illness during the last school term. He has had a good recovery but feels that he could not hope to keep his health and carry out efficiently the heavy responsibilities required of the principal of a modern high school. He felt it wise to quit now to avoid risking further impairment to his health in the future.

Mr. Black says his tenure here has been a happy experience. He said he likes the town and has a great admiration for the people. He says he has come to love the splendid students who have worked so well with him and a top-flight faculty to maintain the fine reputation the high school has always enjoyed.

Preston County Decision Affirmed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The State Supreme Court upheld Monday a Preston County Circuit Court verdict which allowed the Preston County Coke Co. only $1,304 of a $272,571 debt it claimed from the Preston County County Light & Power Co.

The high court refused 4-1 to review the lower court decision. Judge Frank Haymond entered the lone dissent.

The coke company had objected to a defense contention, which the lower court allowed, that a five-year statute of limitations had run out on a part of the debt. The company also said the power company's contention that it had been released from portions of the debt was not valid.

Parker C. Black Keyser Hi School Principal Resigns

KEYSER — Parker C. Black, principal of Keyser High School for the past eight years, announces his resignation from that position, effective July 1, 1959. He will retire at an early time to his former home in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Mr. Black's decision was in a large part influenced by his serious illness during the last school term. He has had a good recovery but feels that he could not hope to keep his health and carry out efficiently the heavy responsibilities required of the principal of a modern high school. He felt it wise to quit now to avoid risking further impairment to his health in the future.

Mr. Black says his tenure here has been a happy experience. He said he likes the town and has a great admiration for the people. He says he has come to love the splendid students who have worked so well with him and a top-flight faculty to maintain the fine reputation the high school has always enjoyed.

Preston County Decision Affirmed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The State Supreme Court upheld Monday a Preston County Circuit Court verdict which allowed the Preston County Coke Co. only $1,304 of a $272,571 debt it claimed from the Preston County County Light & Power Co.

The high court refused 4-1 to review the lower court decision. Judge Frank Haymond entered the lone dissent.

The coke company had objected to a defense contention, which the lower court allowed, that a five-year statute of limitations had run out on a part of the debt. The company also said the power company's contention that it had been released from portions of the debt was not valid.

The International Red Cross yesterday reported Mrs. Ada Twigg, 58, of 114 Harrison Street, in "good" condition. Mrs. Twigg was one of about 20 vacationers who were hospitalized with injuries suffered while fleeing a fire which destroyed a resort hotel at Stalheim, Norway, early Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Twigg is a patient in a hospital at Voss, Norway, the Red Cross reported. She reportedly suffered burns about the body, with the relief agency adding that X-rays which were taken proved negative. It is presumed that Mrs. Twigg either jumped from the blazing hotel or fell while escaping the flames.

According to Mrs. Gladys Snyder, 267 Williams Street, a sister of Mrs. Twigg, a cablegram has been sent to the Norwegian hospital, and there is a possibility a member of the family may fly there to be with Mrs. Twigg during her hospitalization.

WE MUST STRIP TO THE BARE WALLS

We are going to have a complete new front, new entrance, new floors, new fixtures, new paint, new electric wiring system—a complete remodeling job. When we are finished, you won't know the old place.

Everything will be new except our friendly sales people and our famous most for your dollar sales policy.

In order to make these alterations we must close our store for a four week period beginning July 6.

So that carpenters, electricians, painters, tile men, and other tradesmen may work, we must remove every piece of merchandise from our present store and even the smallest piece of shelving and equipment. Rather than pack up the merchandise and store it, we are offering it to you at very great savings—much less than our already lowest in town prices. You come and take it away and save as you have never saved before.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 NT. | Pass | 2 NT. | Pass |
| 3 NT. | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

In today's hand, declarer could see just eight tricks. The ninth would have to be obtained either by courtesy of the defenders, or by a fortunate lay of the cards, or perhaps a bit of both. South started after winning the very first trick to set the trap. Had he delayed in any way, his intended victim would have been given warning to protect himself.

South won the lead of the spade queen with the ace in his own hand. He could now count four heart winners, a club and three spades (finessing West for the jack) bringing the total to only eight. Attacking clubs was a hopeless proposition because East would probably obtain the lead for a diamond shift thru South, which would prove fatal if West held the ace. Therefore the best chance appeared to be an end play on West, which would force him to lead up to declarer's king of diamonds.

If that intention should become evident to West he would surely try to avoid it, so, to the second trick, declarer artfully played a low club. West, naturally, ducked and dummy won with the ace. South returned to his hand with a heart and took the finesse against the spade jack. When that succeeded, he cashed the spade ace and ran the hearts ending in his own hand. South then threw West on lead with the fourth spade. West cashed two spades and a club, but now he had to surrender a diamond trick to declarer.

Note that if declarer had delayed his club play, West would have had the opportunity to see the impending end play and might have taken measures to avoid it by disposing of the king on the very first lead of clubs.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 NT. | Pass | 2 NT. | Pass |
| 3 NT. | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

In today's hand, declarer could see just eight tricks. The ninth would have to be obtained either by courtesy of the defenders, or by a fortunate lay of the cards, or perhaps a bit of both. South started after winning the very first trick to set the trap. Had he delayed in any way, his intended victim would have been given warning to protect himself.

South won the lead of the spade queen with the ace in his own hand. He could now count four heart winners, a club and three spades (finessing West for the jack) bringing the total to only eight. Attacking clubs was a hopeless proposition because East would probably obtain the lead for a diamond shift thru South, which would prove fatal if West held the ace. Therefore the best chance appeared to be an end play on West, which would force him to lead up to declarer's king of diamonds.

If that intention should become evident to West he would surely try to avoid it, so, to the second trick, declarer artfully played a low club. West, naturally, ducked and dummy won with the ace. South returned to his hand with a heart and took the finesse against the spade jack. When that succeeded, he cashed the spade ace and ran the hearts ending in his own hand. South then threw West on lead with the fourth spade. West cashed two spades and a club, but now he had to surrender a diamond trick to declarer.

Note that if declarer had delayed his club play, West would have had the opportunity to see the impending end play and might have taken measures to avoid it by disposing of the king on the very first lead of clubs.

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Annie Drew, who passed away one year ago today.
Peaceful lie thy rest dear Mother
It is sweet to breathe your name;

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition) notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, June 8, 1959, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed twelve (12) foot alley lying between the northerly boundary of Fectig Avenue and the southerly boundary of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 495 feet, more or less, and Rosewood Street which runs from the northerly side of an unnamed alley, which alley lies in the rear of or constitutes the eastern extension of Fectig Avenue, to the southerly side of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 490 feet, more or less, all located in Bopp's Suburban Addition Amended to Cumberland.

After meeting on the premises (2:00 P.M., June 1, 1959) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (½) hour, the Commissioners report that no property owners appeared to be heard for or against the closing of said street and alley, and therefore, the Commissioners present the following:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots in Bopp's Suburban Addition binding on the portion of said unnamed alley and the portion of said Rosewood Street in said Addition, or of any other lots located in said Addition, or any other lots in the vicinity of said portion of said unnamed alley or portion of said Rosewood Street.

That there are equal benefits from the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street to the owners of the lots abutting thereon, and that said benefits to be derived by said owners are dependent upon the future use of said owners, or their heirs and assigns, of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street which they may acquire as the abutting property owners by the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street.

Under the circumstances, the Commissioners feel that since the St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church owns most of the property abutting on said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street, they should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said portion of said alley and street."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after June 8, 1959, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Maryland State Roads Commission

Notice is hereby given to all interested persons that a Public Hearing will be held at the Fort Hill High School Auditorium in Cumberland, Maryland, on June 29, 1959, at 8 P. M. Daylight Saving Time, at which time they will be given an opportunity to be heard concerning their views on the proposed construction by the Maryland State Roads Commission of the following projects:

Cumberland Thruway — the construction of approaches and overhead bridge beginning east of Nave's Crossroad on U. S. Route 40 and extending in a westerly direction running with or paralleling existing U.S. Route 40 to the intersection of U.S. Route 40, Willowbrook Road and Central Avenue, at which point an interchange will be constructed. The new highway then continues parallel with Central Avenue crossing Central Avenue just west of Pine Street with connections to Central Avenue and connecting with Maryland Avenue in the vicinity of Emily Street. The construction of the overhead bridge begins just east of Park Street, and running in a westerly direction passes south of the Queen City Hotel and passes over Park Street, South George Street, South Centre Street and South Mechanic Street, with connections at Centre Street and Mechanic Streets. The overhead bridge then continues over Wills Creek, the approaches to the George Washington Crossing Bridge and Johnson Street, returning to grade in the vicinity of Smallwood Street between Beall Street and Paca Street, with connections for Smallwood Street, Johnson Street and Beall Street. The new highway then crosses Beall Street, Avirett Avenue and Lehigh Street and then crosses Kelly Boulevard and the Baltimore and Ohio tracks on a bridge. Connections for Kelly Boulevard and Lee Street are to be constructed. The highway continues generally in a westerly direction on the south side and paralleling Dunbar Drive and Lynn Street and then crosses Lynn Street and Patterson Avenue at their intersection. Continuing in a westerly direction, the highway crosses Brown Avenue and Gephart Drive and on a bridge crosses relocated U.S. Route 220 near the top of Dingle Hill with an interchange located in this area. The highway then continues westerly on the south side of Braddock Road (Maryland Route 49) to Vocke Road where an interchange is to be constructed with connections to U. S. Route 40 and Winchester Road (Maryland Route 53). The new highway then crosses Braddock Road (Maryland Route 49) and connects with U.S. Route 40 in the vicinity of the Slumberland Motel and then continuing on U.S. Route 40 to a point approximately four tenths of a mile west of the intersection of U. S. Route 40, Maryland Route 49 and Maryland Route 53.

South Approaches—Cumberland Thruway—The proposed extension of the present construction will begin at Third Street and with dual lanes run generally with or parallel to Thomas Street to a point near the intersection of Thomas Street and Wineow Street, with connections to existing streets. The proposed new construction will cross over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on a bridge and then generally parallel Wineow Street until it crosses Wineow Street in the vicinity of Kearney Street. The highway then continues until it connects with South Centre Street and South Mechanic Street.

U.S. Route 40 — the construction of a new highway on the west slope of Martins Mountain beginning at a point approximately one-tenth of a mile east of Elliott's Motel and extending generally in a westerly direction to a point approximately two-tenths of a mile west of Johnson Road.

U.S. Route 40 — The construction of a new highway beginning just west of Johnson Road and running with or paralleling existing U.S. Route 40 to a point east of Nave's Crossroads.

U.S. Route 220, south of Cumberland, beginning at a point near the Cumberland City Line and running in a southerly direction, the dual lane highway will cross existing U.S. Route 220 and continue along side of and parallel with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks to a point near Division Street in Potomac Park Addition. At this point the proposed highway will curve to the right crossing Fairgo Road near U.S. Route 220 and and then running parallel with on the east side of U.S. Route 220 until it intersects with U.S. Route 220 near the entrance to the Celanese Plant and construction terminates in this area.

Interested citizens of Cumberland and affected areas will be heard, particularly with reference to the economic effect of such locations.

Nuclear Energy Discussed At Kiwanis Club Meeting

Nuclear energy will not compete seriously with coal as a fuel for electric power generation for at least 20 years, Dr. Robert F. Campbell, educational director of the National Coal Association, said yesterday.

Dr. Campbell, in a speech to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, predicted that coal will continue to be the most important source of fuel for electric energy until at least 1980.

"Demand for electric power will increase rapidly in the decades ahead," he said. "Coal already generates more electricity than all other fuels and water power combined — more than twice as much as its competing fuels. Because coal will be more enonomical than other fuels, it should increase its share of the electric utility market.

"The cost of power produced from the atom is now eight to 15 times that of electricity generated in coal-fired steam plants," Dr. Campbell said. Approximately 90 per cent of the cost of power produced at the Shippingport, Pa., plant is absorbed by federal subsidy, he said. The high cost of nuclear electricity is caused by extremely high plant costs, elaborate safety precautions, problems of waste disposal and the high cost of nuclear fuel, he explained.

Dr. Campbell maintained that the present program of federal support for research and development in atomic energy is adequate to maintain qualitative leadership in nuclear technology and thus maintain America's international prestige. United States aid to Euratom has demonstrated America's willingness to encourage more rapid development of atomic energy in Europe in the interest of mutual security and welfare, he said. He claimed that no impending shortages of domestic energy sources face this country, and, therefore, there is no domestic need for an accelerated atomic energy program.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—July soybeans were strong, but other grains were mostly lower today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ¾ to ⅞; corn off ½ to ⅝; oats unchanged to up ¼; new oats off ⅜ to up ¼; rye off ¾ to 1⅛; soybeans of ⅜ to up 1⅛.

Wheat lost its early firm tones as hedge selling increased. Brokers with northwest connections sold large amounts of September and December. A mill bought on resting orders.

The corn market was easier as northwest brokers sold September and a local elevator sold December. There was little buying interest in old crop corn, but local traders sold July. Crop reports said corn was making good progress, but that rain is needed in many areas.

Export subsidies were granted on 892,000 bushels of corn and 80,000 bushels of oats. Bids were rejected on 20,000 bushels of rye.

Oats prices receded from a steady level and were mixed at the close. Weakness in other markets prompted some selling. There was good buying of December early, and an industry bought new September and sold December at 3 cents difference.

Rye dropped more than a cent in some contracts.

Soybeans were just the opposite of yesterday. July today was strong, while deferred contracts weakened under selling pressure. Commercial interests bought July. Trade was moderately active, and prices rallied somewhat before the close.

Lards and oils were lower, and meals were firm. The export trade was quiet, but Japan was reported to have bought soybeans for July shipment.

Outside markets were mixed. The range:

Home Loans Zoom

BRAINERD, Minn., (UPI) — A spokesman for the nation's savings and loan associations predicted Thursday a gradual tightening in the supply of home mortgage credit through 1959 because the "supply of savings is still being outstripped by an unprecedented demand for home loans." Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings & Loan League reported that home mortgage loans put on the books by savings and loan associations have risen to a volume 46 per cent greater than the first five months of 1958, while advance loan commitments are nearly $800 million ahead of a year ago.

Nazi-Worshiper Jailed

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—John Baynes, 32, who said he took telepathic "orders" from Nazi Gestapo Chief Reinhard Heydrich, was jailed Monday for theft and resisting arrest.

Baynes held off police tear gas attacks before being seized in his home. He insisted he was in constant touch with Heydrich, who was killed in 1942 in Czechoslovakia. A psychiatrist said Baynes had an "obsessive devotion" to the Nazi officer.

"Why get so excited about being bankrupt, Smedley? . . . It merely means that we've achieved the ultimate in the modern credit economy!"

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition) notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, June 8, 1959, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed twelve (12) foot alley lying between the northerly boundary of Fectig Avenue and the southerly boundary of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 495 feet, more or less, and Rosewood Street which runs from the northerly side of an unnamed alley, which alley lies in the rear of or constitutes the eastern extension of Fectig Avenue, to the southerly side of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 490 feet, more or less, all located in Bopp's Suburban Addition Amended to Cumberland.

After meeting on the premises (2:00 P.M., June 1, 1959) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (½) hour, the Commissioners report that no property owners appeared to be heard for or against the closing of said street and alley, and therefore, the Commissioners present the following:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots in Bopp's Suburban Addition binding on the portion of said unnamed alley and the portion of said Rosewood Street in said Addition, or of any other lots located in said Addition, or any other lots in the vicinity of said portion of said unnamed alley or portion of said Rosewood Street.

That there are equal benefits from the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street to the owners of the lots abutting thereon, and that said benefits to be derived by said owners are dependent upon the future use of said owners, or their heirs and assigns, of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street which they may acquire as the abutting property owners by the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street.

Under the circumstances, the Commissioners feel that since the St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church owns most of the property abutting on said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street, they should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said portion of said alley and street."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after June 8, 1959, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Nuclear Energy Discussed At Kiwanis Club Meeting

Nuclear energy will not compete seriously with coal as a fuel for electric power generation for at least 20 years, Dr. Robert F. Campbell, educational director of the National Coal Association, said yesterday.

Dr. Campbell, in a speech to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, predicted that coal will continue to be the most important source of fuel for electric energy until at least 1980.

"Demand for electric power will increase rapidly in the decades ahead," he said. "Coal already generates more electricity than all other fuels and water power combined — more than twice as much as its competing fuels. Because coal will be more enonomical than other fuels, it should increase its share of the electric utility market.

"The cost of power produced from the atom is now eight to 15 times that of electricity generated in coal-fired steam plants," Dr. Campbell said. Approximately 90 per cent of the cost of power produced at the Shippingport, Pa., plant is absorbed by federal subsidy, he said. The high cost of nuclear electricity is caused by extremely high plant costs, elaborate safety precautions, problems of waste disposal and the high cost of nuclear fuel, he explained.

Dr. Campbell maintained that the present program of federal support for research and development in atomic energy is adequate to maintain qualitative leadership in nuclear technology and thus maintain America's international prestige. United States aid to Euratom has demonstrated America's willingness to encourage more rapid development of atomic energy in Europe in the interest of mutual security and welfare, he said. He claimed that no impending shortages of domestic energy sources face this country, and, therefore, there is no domestic need for an accelerated atomic energy program.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—July soybeans were strong, but other grains were mostly lower today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ¼ to ½; corn off ½ to ⅞; oats unchanged to up ¼; new oats off ⅜ to up ¼; rye off ¾ to 1⅛; soybeans of ⅝ to up 1⅛.

Wheat lost its early firm tones as hedge selling increased. Brokers with northwest connections sold large amounts of September and December. A mill bought on resting orders.

The corn market was easier as northwest brokers sold September and a local elevator sold December. There was little buying interest in old crop corn, but local traders sold July. Crop reports said corn was making good progress, but that rain is needed in many areas.

Export subsidies were granted on 892,000 bushels of corn and 80,000 bushels of oats. Bids were rejected on 20,000 bushels of rye.

Oats prices receded from a steady level and were mixed at the close. Weakness in other markets prompted some selling. There was good buying of December early, and an industry bought new September and sold December at 3 cents difference.

Rye dropped more than a cent in some contracts.

Soybeans were just the opposite of yesterday. July today was strong, while deferred contracts weakened under selling pressure. Commercial interests bought July. Trade was moderately active, and prices rallied somewhat before the close.

Lards and oils were lower, and meals were firm. The export trade was quiet, but Japan was reported to have bought soybeans for July shipment.

Outside markets were mixed. The range:

Home Loans Zoom

BRAINERD, Minn., (UPI) — A spokesman for the nation's savings and loan associations predicted Thursday a gradual tightening in the supply of home mortgage credit through 1959 because the "supply of savings is still being outstripped by an unprecedented demand for home loans." Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings & Loan League reported that home mortgage loans put on the books by savings and loan associations have risen to a volume 46 per cent greater than the first five months of 1958, while advance loan commitments are nearly $800 million ahead of a year ago.

Nazi-Worshiper Jailed

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI)—John Baynes, 32, who said he took telepathic "orders" from Nazi Gestapo Chief Reinhard Heydrich, was jailed Monday for theft and resisting arrest.

Baynes held off police tear gas attacks before being seized in his home. He insisted he was in constant touch with Heydrich, who was killed in 1942 in Czechoslovakia. A psychiatrist said Baynes had an "obsessive devotion" to the Nazi officer.

County Real Estate Taxes Being Paid In Steady Flow

Allegany County real estate taxes are coming to the office of Tax Collector William B. Orndorff at the Court House in a steady stream as the deadline for the five per cent discount approaches.

Mr. Orndorff was not in the office yesterday but it was understood that some of the large payments from major corporations are beginning to come into the office. Earlier this week the collector reported that more than $1,000,000 had been collected.

When the county commissioners set the tax levy on April 21 they figured that the $2.22 tax rate on $162,000,000 of assessed valuation would bring the county $3,569,400, less $145,000 for discounts, or a total of $3,424,400.

It is anticipated that about 75 per cent of the county taxes may be collected this month when a five per cent discount on county taxes is allowed. That would amount to some $2,568,300.

Tuesday, June 30, is the final date for the five per cent discount. It will become four per cent in July and three per cent in August. The collector's office is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays. Many taxpayers find it convenient to mail their returns to the Court House.

More than 100 tax bills which could not be delivered for one reasor or another are still at the Court House. Failure to receive a bill is no excuse for non-payment of taxes. Mr. Orndorff has requested all who did not get tax bills to notify him so that an investigation can be conducted.

Former Local Man Killed In Jeep Accident

Thomas B. Stickley, 33, of Rockville, a former resident of Cumberland, died trapped in a burning jeep which went out of control and over an embankment early yesterday near Takoma Park.

Mr. Stickley was the husband of the former Ruth Ann Pendergast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Pendergast, 33 North Mechanic Street, who was in Cumberland with their three children visiting relatives at the time of the accident.

William B. Critzer, 28, of Silver Spring, a passenger in the jeep, was thrown clear of the wreckage and was burned about the hands trying to save his friend.

State Police said Mr. Stickley was driving the vehicle which left Sligo Creek Parkway, smashed into a tree, and caught fire after it turned over on top of Mr. Stickley.

Mr. Critzer was found walking down the parkway about a mile away in a state of shock. He was treated and released from Washington Sanitarium.

The victim was employed as an auditor for the Singer Sewing Machine Company and the vehicle he was driving is owned by St. Catherine's Catholic School, Wheaton, where Mr. Critzer is employed. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joyce Russell, former assistant at St. Mary's Catholic Church, is pastor of St. Catherine's Church.

Surviving, besides his wife, are three children, Karen, 4; Timothy, 8, and Thomas, 6.

The body is at the Pumphrey Funeral Home, Bethesda.

Officer Bitten By Prisoner

City Police Officer James A. Brown, 22, of 701 Baker Street, last night was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital after reportedly being bitten on the cheek by a man he was trying to arrest.

Arrested by local police was Donald Ellsworth, 27, of LaVale, who was charged with disturbing the peace, resisting arrest, assaulting an officer, and being drunk.

Police said Officer Brown noticed Ellsworth getting into his car at a service station parking lot at Fifth Street. When the officer approached the man, a scuffle ensued and Brown was hit as well as being bitten on the cheek by Ellsworth, police said.

Officer Brown had the man subdued by the time Officer John Powers arrived with the patrol wagon. Officer Elmer Shank took Officer Brown to the hospital for treatment. The scuffle occurred about 10 p. m.

Two Youths Ordered To Training School

Two youths were ordered committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys at hearings yesterday in Juvenile Court before Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

Both boys, a 16-year-old local youth, and a 15-year-old Corriganville youth, were found guilty of violation of probation.

Court Decree Annuls Deed

A decree annulling the deed whereby ownership of two Goethe Street properties was transferred without any legal consideration was filed yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The decree simply implements the opinion which Judge Harris had filed in the equity suit Tuesday. Mrs. Mildred Page Johnson, 63, of 404 Goethe Street, had brought the action against Kenneth M. Kirkpatrick and Nellie D. Kirkpatrick, his wife, 481 Goethe Street.

Judge Harris ruled that the deed for the properties at 404 Goethe Street and 481-83 Goethe Street would be annulled and set aside on the ground that it was procured by fraud.

Porter Held For Jury Action

Kenneth Porter, 24, formerly of Corriganville, yesterday afternoon was ordered held for action of the October term of the grand jury on a charge of larceny after trust.

Porter was given a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt who set bond at $500. Porter was committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

The unusual charge was placed against Porter in connection with the theft of a station wagon in January from Albert Mason, this city, manager of the United Television Company.

Authorities said Porter, who then was employed by the United Television Company, took the vehicle and later abandoned it in Pennsylvania. Police said the station wagon has not been recovered.

City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey picked up Porter Wednesday night in a local tavern.

Being held in the city jail are King Shirley Carey, 124 West Third Street, and Robert Swauger, of Irons Mountain.

Medical School Student Gets 'On-Job' Training

John A. Reeves of Westernport, who has completed two years at the Medical School of the University of Maryland, is getting "on-the-job" training this summer in the Allegany County Health Department.

His father, Dr. Raymond Reeves, is a practicing physician in Westernport. The young student began getting experience in the sanitation department on Monday.

J. Byron Dowling, sanitarian, said Mr. Reeves will be with the department for three weeks and will be checking septic tanks, collecting food samples, and checking on milk control at county dairies and farms.

During the following three weeks, he will learn other functions of the Health Department, including the various type clinics conducted by the department.

This phase of training will be under the guidance of Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

Mr. Reeves graduated from Bruce High School in 1954 and received a bachelor of science degree at the University in 1957.

New School Legislation Likely In 1961

$3,500,000 Program May Be Requested

When the General Assembly holds its next "long" session in 1961, at which local legislation can be considered, it may be that State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the County Delegation will be asked to introduce legislation calling for up to $3,500,000 in new school construction.

Local legislation cannot be considered at the short sessions in even-numbered years.

One of the projects in such a building program would be an addition to the existing Gephart Elementary School on Frederick Street, which now has an enrollment of 301 in a school originally planned as a six-room structure. Additional rooms are located in the basement and auditorium.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster had proposed that the operation of Gephart and Carver be merged under a single principal. When opposition to this plan developed, the Board of Education Wednesday afternoon voted to close Carver School for the 1959-60 school year.

Pupils will be transferred to Northeast, Columbia Street and possibly Centre Street schools to alleviate the crowded condition.

Mr. Webster cited at least three other school needs which should be filled within the next few years. One is a junior high school addition to Parkside Elementary School in LaVale, opened in the fall of 1955. This junior high would relieve the crowded condition at Allegany High School.

Another needed school, the Board of Education was told this week, is a new junior high school in South Cumberland to alleviate the crowded conditions at Fort Hill High School and at Pennsylvania Avenue School.

Still another new school possibility is an elementary school to serve Bowling Green and Potomac Park. These children now are transported to West Side and Mt. Royal schools.

Registered Mail Notice Is Upheld

Notice by registered letter of intention to claim a lien on property is legally sufficient, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris ruled yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Harris' view was stated in an opinion overruling a demurrer in an equity suit which had been brought by the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company, 31 Queen Street, against Jacob W. Bishop and Ruth M. Bishop, his wife, RFD 4, Golden Avenue, and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 141 Baltimore Street.

The planing mill, through Attorney Clarence Lippel, explained that it had furnished materials costing a total of $5,106.08 which Ronald K. Wingard, trading as Wingard Construction Company, had used to construct a house for the Bishops on Lot No. 3 on the south side of Golden Avenue in Election District 16.

When payment was not made for the materials, the complainant notified the defendants by registered letter of the intention to claim a lien. On February 28, the claim for a mechanic's lien was filed.

The equity suit was filed seeking a court decree for sale of the property in order to repay the planing mill its $5,106.08 plus interest from last November 1.

A demurrer was filed by Harry I. Stegmaier as attorney for the Bishops and George W. Legge as attorney for the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, holder of the mortgage on the property.

The sole question raised by the demurrer, Judge Harris wrote, was whether the Bishops received sufficient notice by registered letter of intention to claim the lien or whether the notice should have been handed the defendants in person.

This question never has been answered specifically by the Maryland Court of Appeals, Judge Harris wrote. It has implied, however, that notice by registered letter is sufficient. As a consequence, he overruled the demurrer.

Two Are Graduates Of Frostburg

Three more new teachers have been appointed to fill elementary school positions in Allegany County for the year starting in September, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

One of the new teachers is Miss Mary Elizabeth Porter, formerly of 99 West Nicholai Street, Hicksville, L.I., N.Y., who will teach at Pennsylvania Avenue School.

A 1953 graduate of Fort Hill High School, Miss Porter received her B.S. in elementary education at Concordia (Ill.) Teachers College in 1957. The past two years she has taught third grade a the Trinity Lutheran School in Hicksville. Here she is staying with an uncle, Walter P. Schlund, 1922 Bedford Street.

Another new teacher is Harold James Winstanley, 108 Main Street, Ridgeley. A 1948 graduate of Allegany High School, Mr. Winstanley attended Frostburg State Teachers College in the 1948-49 school year. He returned to the college from 1956 until February 1959 when he completed the requirements for a B.S. degree in elementary education.

Mr. Winstanley will teach at Johnson Heights School. During the second semester of the past school year he was on the faculty at McCoole School.

Miss Clara Boettner, RFD 1, Frostburg, has been named to teach at John Humbird School. A 1938 graduate of Beall High School, she returned to school 18 years later, attending Frostburg State Teachers College from 1956 to 1959 and obtaining a B.S. in elementary education.

Tennis Lessons For Youngsters Begin Monday

Again this summer, the City Recreation Department will sponsor a tennis program for local youngsters between the age of 13 and 19.

C. Eugene Mason, rec director, said Douglas Sullivan will be instructor for the program, which will begin Monday morning.

Tennis courts at North End, Gephart and Fort Hill will be used to teach those who plan to learn how to play the game.

The Rec Department, Mr. Mason said, is prepared to provide racquets and tennis balls to those youngsters who do not have their own equipment.

A schedule has been set up as follows:

Mondays from 10 a.m. until noon at North End courts for youngsters who live on West Side; Tuesdays from 10 a.m. until noon at Gephart courts for East Side youngsters. Wednesdays from 10 a.m. until noon at North End courts for those who live in North End, and Thursdays from 10 a.m. until noon at Fort Hill courts for South End youngsters.

The summer tennis program will end in August, at which time a tournament will decide champions for both girls and boys in various age groups.

Although the program works hand-in-hand with the city playlot program, a youngster need not register with the playlot in order to receive the tennis instructions.

County Loses $97,065 Fund For Its Roads

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received word this week that the county has lost $97,065 in federal aid funds for secondary roads but still can get another $201,519 if agreements are executed in 1960.

This information was included in a report from the State Roads Commission on the final expenditures for the North Branch access road to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant from State Route 51.

The report showed that $46,649.25 was available for the project as of July 1, 1958. Final charges added up to $30,475.81, leaving a balance of $16,173.44 which was returned to the county. This report covered the period ending May 31.

With this report was the statement on the federal aid funds. The county was entitled to a 1958 allocation of $97,065 but an agreement had to be executed on or before June 30, 1959. The county commissioners, who took office last December, were unable to commit any county funds to match the federal money.

Still available are 1959 and 1960 allocations. The $99,594 allocation for 1959 is available if an agreement is reached by June 30, 1960. The 1960 allocation of $101,925 is available if there is an agreement by August 31, 1960.

'Momma, What Happened?'

That was one of the first questions Ivan Moon asked from his hospital bed.

It's a question that echoed and re-echoed through Ivan's shocked hometown of Shelbyville, Ill. Why, how could it have happened? There had been no drinking . . . Moon was known as a good driver, a level-headed boy, whose automobile was his pampered pride and joy.

For Ivan Moon, amnesia had obliterated the evening a train smashed his car, killed his sister, his girl, and five other youngsters after a high school prom.

But parents and friends remembered, sadly . . . And you will remember, too, after reading the drama of one accident which may stand as a dark memorial to the nation's highway victims. Written by Associated Press reporter Saul Pett, who spent a week digging into the events, the article appears Sunday in The Cumberland Sunday Times.

Girl, 8, Hit By Automobile

An eight-year-old local girl was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night with a possible fractured skull after she was struck by an auto on North Mechanic Street.

Irene M. Springer, 159 North Mechanic Street, was reported in "fair" condition last night. X-rays will be taken, attaches said.

City Police said the accident occurred about 10 p. m. when the little girl, who was chasing a ball, darted out into the street from between two parked cars.

The driver of the auto was Thomas W. Izat, 18, of 24 Klosterman Avenue, LaVale, police said. No charges have been filed pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

Officers James Morris and Harold Gibson are investigating.

Larceny Cases Keeping City Police Busy

Vandalism Is Also Reported

The City Police Detective Bureau has received a number of complaints of larceny and vandalism within the past few days.

Raymond Beck, 103 Decatur Street, told police yesterday that someone took a three-year-old black cocker spaniel from his back yard Wednesday night.

A baseball glove, valued at $20, was reported stolen from a son of Raymond Baker Jr. of 717 Hill Top Drive. Mr. Baker said his son Mike had his glove stolen Tuesday evening at Pennsylvania Avenue ball field during a Little League game. The MacGregor glove (G118) was autographed by Johnny Temple and has "Mike B" printed on the glove strap, police said.

Rose Sponaugle of 318 Cecelia Street said she was in a local dentist's office on Wednesday when someone stole her purse, which had been placed on a chair near a desk in the inner office. The purse was later located in the building although a red billfold containing $1.32 had been taken. Police got a partial description of a youth who was suspected.

Carl W. Martin told police someone removed a green fender skirt from a 1957 Mercury parked at Simpson's Atlantic Gas Station.

Delton Parker of a local cab company reported that a car belonging to Georgia Brant of Ridgeley had been ransacked. Taken were a flashlight, two wheel discs, a bag of groceries and two comforters valued at $36. The items were later recovered by Officer Frank Bohn at the Western Maryland Railway Company overpass on Wineow Street.

A resident at 144 Thomas Street told police someone took her clothes line, wash tub, broom and dustpan from the back porch.

Police also received a complaint that someone destroyed property at a service station at 642 Greene Street. Some time ago a neon light was broken, and on Tuesday a large light shade was broken.

Harry Yeager of 520 Regina Avenue said someone threw a beer bottle against the windshield of his car and broke the windshield.

Few Farmers File Reports On Compliance

Only about one-third of the 91 Allegany County farmers who have been notified to file reports on or before June 30 on spring agricultural conservation practices carried out have submitted their reports to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office at 37 Washington Street.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, ASC office manager, said yesterday that only about 30 compliance reports have come to her attention. These report such practices as liming, treating pasture with fertilizer, installing tile drainage ditches and strip cropping.

These reports should be submitted to Miss Hoover on or before next Tuesday. Farmers may request the County ASC Committee to extend the time for compliance if they have started the practice but have not completed it by June 30.

Assistance funds will not be distributed to farmers failing to file the necessary reports. Farmers have 15 days after June 30 to apply to the County ASC Committee for reinstatement. This reinstatement will be granted if the farmer already has started on the practice.

Miss Hoover also reported that payment to wool growers on 1958 shearings will be sent out July 2. Thirteen growers will get checks for shorn wool and seven for unshorn lambs. The payments will amount to 70.3 per cent of what the growers received.

County Real Estate Taxes Being Paid In Steady Flow

Allegany County real estate taxes are coming to the office of Tax Collector William B. Orndorff at the Court House in a steady stream as the deadline for the five per cent discount approaches.

Mr. Orndorff was not in the office yesterday but it was understood that some of the large payments from major corporations are beginning to come into the office. Earlier this week the collector reported that more than $1,000,000 had been collected.

When the county commissioners set the tax levy on April 21 they figured that the $2.22 tax rate on $162,000,000 of assessed valuation would bring the county $3,569,400, less $145,000 for discounts, or a total of $3,424,400.

It is anticipated that about 75 per cent of the county taxes may be collected this month when a five per cent discount on county taxes is allowed. That would amount to some $2,568,300.

Tuesday, June 30, is the final date for the five per cent discount. It will become four per cent in July and three per cent in August. The collector's office is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays. Many taxpayers find it convenient to mail their returns to the Court House.

More than 100 tax bills which could not be delivered for one reasor or another are still at the Court House. Failure to receive a bill is no excuse for non-payment of taxes. Mr. Orndorff has requested all who did not get tax bills to notify him so that an investigation can be conducted.

Former Local Man Killed In Jeep Accident

Thomas B. Stickley, 33, of Rockville, a former resident of Cumberland, died trapped in a burning jeep which went out of control and over an embankment early yesterday near Takoma Park.

Mr. Stickley was the husband of the former Ruth Ann Pendergast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Pendergast, 33 North Mechanic Street, who was in Cumberland with their three children visiting relatives at the time of the accident.

William B. Critzer, 28, of Silver Spring, a passenger in the jeep, was thrown clear of the wreckage and was burned about the hands trying to save his friend.

State Police said Mr. Stickley was driving the vehicle which left Sligo Creek Parkway, smashed into a tree, and caught fire after it turned over on top of Mr. Stickley.

Mr. Critzer was found walking down the parkway about a mile away in a state of shock. He was treated and released from Washington Sanitarium.

The victim was employed as an auditor for the Singer Sewing Machine Company and the vehicle he was driving is owned by St. Catherine's Catholic School, Wheaton, where Mr. Critzer is employed. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joyce Russell, former assistant at St. Mary's Catholic Church, is pastor of St. Catherine's Church.

Officer Bitten By Prisoner

City Police Officer James A. Brown, 22, of 701 Baker Street, last night was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital after reportedly being bitten on the cheek by a man he was trying to arrest.

Arrested by local police was Donald Ellsworth, 27, of LaVale, who was charged with disturbing the peace, resisting arrest, assaulting an officer, and being drunk.

Police said Officer Brown noticed Ellsworth getting into his car at a service station parking lot at Fifth Street. When the officer approached the man, a scuffle ensued and Brown was hit as well as being bitten on the cheek by Ellsworth, police said.

Officer Brown had the man subdued by the time Officer John Powers arrived with the patrol wagon. Officer Elmer Shank took Officer Brown to the hospital for treatment. The scuffle occurred about 10 p. m.

Two youths were ordered committed to the Maryland Training School for Boys at hearings yesterday in Juvenile Court before Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

Court Decree Annuls Deed

A decree annulling the deed whereby ownership of two Goethe Street properties was transferred without any legal consideration was filed yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The decree simply implements the opinion which Judge Harris had filed in the equity suit Tuesday. Mrs. Mildred Page Johnson, 63, of 404 Goethe Street, had brought the action against Kenneth M. Kirkpatrick and Nellie D. Kirkpatrick, his wife, 481 Goethe Street.

Judge Harris ruled that the deed for the properties at 404 Goethe Street and 481-83 Goethe Street would be annulled and set aside on the ground that it was procured by fraud.

Porter Held For Jury Action

Kenneth Porter, 24, formerly of Corriganville, yesterday afternoon was ordered held for action of the October term of the grand jury on a charge of larceny after trust.

Porter was given a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt who set bond at $500. Porter was committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

The unusual charge was placed against Porter in connection with the theft of a station wagon in January from Albert Mason, this city, manager of the United Television Company.

Authorities said Porter, who then was employed by the United Television Company, took the vehicle and later abandoned it in Pennsylvania. Police said the station wagon has not been recovered.

City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey picked up Porter Wednesday night in a local tavern.

Medical School Student Gets 'On-Job' Training

John A. Reeves of Westernport, who has completed two years at the Medical School of the University of Maryland, is getting "on-the-job" training this summer in the Allegany County Health Department.

His father, Dr. Raymond Reeves, is a practicing physician in Westernport. The young student began getting experience in the sanitation department on Monday.

J. Byron Dowling, sanitarian, said Mr. Reeves will be with the department for three weeks and will be checking septic tanks, collecting food samples, and checking on milk control at county dairies and farms.

During the following three weeks, he will learn other functions of the Health Department, including the various type clinics conducted by the department.

This phase of training will be under the guidance of Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

Mr. Reeves graduated from Bruce High School in 1954 and received a bachelor of science degree at the University in 1957.

New School Legislation Likely In 1961

$3,500,000 Program May Be Requested

When the General Assembly holds its next "long" session in 1961, at which local legislation can be considered, it may be that State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the County Delegation will be asked to introduce legislation calling for up to $3,500,000 in new school construction.

Local legislation cannot be considered at the short sessions in even-numbered years.

One of the projects in such a building program would be an addition to the existing Gephart Elementary School on Frederick Street, which now has an enrollment of 301 in a school originally planned as a six-room structure. Additional rooms are located in the basement and auditorium.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster had proposed that the operation of Gephart and Carver be merged under a single principal. When opposition to this plan developed, the Board of Education Wednesday afternoon voted to close Carver School for the 1959-60 school year.

Pupils will be transferred to Northeast, Columbia Street and possibly Centre Street schools to alleviate the crowded condition.

Mr. Webster cited at least three other school needs which should be filled within the next few years. One is a junior high school addition to Parkside Elementary School in LaVale, opened in the fall of 1955. This junior high would relieve the crowded condition at Allegany High School.

Another needed school, the Board of Education was told this week, is a new junior high school in South Cumberland to alleviate the crowded conditions at Fort Hill High School and at Pennsylvania Avenue School.

Still another new school possibility is an elementary school to serve Bowling Green and Potomac Park. These children now are transported to West Side and Mt. Royal schools.

Registered Mail Notice Is Upheld

Notice by registered letter of intention to claim a lien on property is legally sufficient, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris ruled yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Harris' view was stated in an opinion overruling a demurrer in an equity suit which had been brought by the South Cumberland Planing Mill Company, 31 Queen Street, against Jacob W. Bishop and Ruth M. Bishop, his wife, RFD 4, Golden Avenue, and the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 141 Baltimore Street.

The planing mill, through Attorney Clarence Lippel, explained that it had furnished materials costing a total of $5,106.08 which Ronald K. Wingard, trading as Wingard Construction Company, had used to construct a house for the Bishops on Lot No. 3 on the south side of Golden Avenue in Election District 16.

When payment was not made for the materials, the complainant notified the defendants by registered letter of the intention to claim a lien. On February 28, the claim for a mechanic's lien was filed.

The equity suit was filed seeking a court decree for sale of the property in order to repay the planing mill its $5,106.08 plus interest from last November 1.

A demurrer was filed by Harry I. Stegmaier as attorney for the Bishops and George W. Legge as attorney for the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, holder of the mortgage on the property.

The sole question raised by the demurrer, Judge Harris wrote, was whether the Bishops received sufficient notice by registered letter of intention to claim the lien or whether the notice should have been handed the defendants in person.

This question never has been answered specifically by the Maryland Court of Appeals, Judge Harris wrote. It has implied, however, that notice by registered letter is sufficient. As a consequence, he overruled the demurrer.

Three Teachers To Fill Posts In Schools Here

Two Are Graduates Of Frostburg

Three more new teachers have been appointed to fill elementary school positions in Allegany County for the year starting in September, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

A 1953 graduate of Fort Hill High School, Miss Porter received her B.S. in elementary education at Concordia (Ill.) Teachers College in 1957. C. Eugene Mason, rec director, said Douglas Sullivan will be instructor for the program, which will begin Monday morning.

Tennis courts at North End, Gephart and Fort Hill will be used to teach those who plan to learn how to play the game.

The Rec Department, Mr. Mason said, is prepared to provide racquets and tennis balls to those youngsters who do not have their own equipment.

Children may register for classes by contacting Mr. Sullivan at the courts where the classes are being held during the week.

A schedule has been set up as follows:

Mondays from 10 a.m. until noon at North End courts for youngsters who live on West Side; Tuesdays from 10 a.m. until noon at Gephart courts for East Side youngsters. Wednesdays from 10 a.m. until noon at North End courts for those who live in North End, and Thursdays from 10 a.m. until noon at Fort Hill courts for South End youngsters.

The summer tennis program will end in August, at which time a tournament will decide champions for both girls and boys in various age groups.

Although the program works hand-in-hand with the city playlot program, a youngster need not register with the playlot in order to receive the tennis instructions.

County Loses $97,065 Fund For Its Roads

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received word this week that the county has lost $97,065 in federal aid funds for secondary roads but still can get another $201,519 if agreements are executed in 1960.

This information was included in a report from the State Roads Commission on the final expenditures for the North Branch access road to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant from State Route 51.

The report showed that $46,649.25 was available for the project as of July 1, 1958. Final charges added up to $30,475.81, leaving a balance of $16,173.44 which was returned to the county. This report covered the period ending May 31.

With this report was the statement on the federal aid funds. The county was entitled to a 1958 allocation of $97,065 but an agreement had to be executed on or before June 30, 1959. The county commissioners, who took office last December, were unable to commit any county funds to match the federal money.

Still available are 1959 and 1960 allocations. The $99,594 allocation for 1959 is available if an agreement is reached by June 30, 1960. The 1960 allocation of $101,925 is available if there is an agreement by August 31, 1960.

'Momma, What Happened?'

That was one of the first questions Ivan Moon asked from his hospital bed.

It's a question that echoed and re-echoed through Ivan's shocked hometown of Shelbyville, Ill. Why, how could it have happened? There had been no drinking . . . Moon was known as a good driver, a level-headed boy, whose automobile was his pampered pride and joy.

For Ivan Moon, amnesia had obliterated the evening a train smashed his car, killed his sister, his girl, and five other youngsters after a high school prom.

But parents and friends remembered, sadly . . . And you will remember, too, after reading the drama of one accident which may stand as a dark memorial to the nation's highway victims. Written by Associated Press reporter Saul Pett, who spent a week digging into the events, the article appears Sunday in The Cumberland Sunday Times.

Larceny Cases Keeping City Police Busy

Vandalism Is Also Reported

The City Police Detective Bureau has received a number of complaints of larceny and vandalism within the past few days.

Raymond Beck, 103 Decatur Street, told police yesterday that someone took a three-year-old black cocker spaniel from his back yard Wednesday night.

A baseball glove, valued at $20, was reported stolen from a son of Raymond Baker Jr. of 717 Hill Top Drive. Mr. Baker said his son Mike had his glove stolen Tuesday evening at Pennsylvania Avenue ball field during a Little League game. The MacGregor glove (G118) was autographed by Johnny Temple and has "Mike B" printed on the glove strap, police said.

Rose Sponaugle of 318 Cecelia Street said she was in a local dentist's office on Wednesday when someone stole her purse, which had been placed on a chair near a desk in the inner office. The purse was later located in the building although a red billfold containing $1.32 had been taken. Police got a partial description of a youth who was suspected.

Few Farmers File Reports On Compliance

Only about one-third of the 91 Allegany County farmers who have been notified to file reports on or before June 30 on spring agricultural conservation practices carried out have submitted their reports to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office at 37 Washington Street.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, ASC office manager, said yesterday that only about 30 compliance reports have come to her attention. These report such practices as liming, treating pasture with fertilizer, installing tile drainage ditches and strip cropping.

These reports should be submitted to Miss Hoover on or before next Tuesday. Farmers may request the County ASC Committee to extend the time for compliance if they have started the practice but have not completed it by June 30.

Assistance funds will not be distributed to farmers failing to file the necessary reports. Farmers have 15 days after June 30 to apply to the County ASC Committee for reinstatement. This reinstatement will be granted if the farmer already has started on the practice.

Miss Hoover also reported that payment to wool growers on 1958 shearings will be sent out July 2. Thirteen growers will get checks for shorn wool and seven for unshorn lambs. The payments will amount to 70.3 per cent of what the growers received.
